

ATLANTIC CONQUERED! NC-4 REACHES PORTUGAL

'GOVERNMENT ISLAND YARD SHOULD STAY'

Concrete Ships Huge Success
Despite Ignorant Criticism, Asserts Head of U. S. Department Over Stone Craft

Fate of Continuance of Property Depends on New Congress, Says Official, Who Will Speak Here Tomorrow

"The perpetuation of the Government island concrete shipyard—in fact the immediate future of the concrete ship industry—depends on the attitude of the new Congress toward it," said R. G. Wig, head of the concrete section of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, in San Francisco today.

Chairman Wig, who addresses the Oakland Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon given in his honor tomorrow, gave fulsome praise to Oakland and Alameda for "giving the government so much property as the Government island yards and some recognition should be given by the Emergency Fleet Corporation to these two cities. From the standpoint of climate conditions and higher the yard is ideal for surviving the other government concrete shipyards at Mobile, Ala., Jacksonville, Fla., Wilmington, Del., and San Diego," he said.

BOIES FOR SUPPORT OF CONCRETE PROGRAM

Primarily here for the launching of the Palo Alto, 7500 tons, which takes the water Thursday afternoon, sponsored by Mrs. Wig, the largest concrete ship ever built and the last ship of the Twilight which is to be launched the latter part of June, Chairman Wig admitted that he was on a tour of inspection of the various government yards and
"it is to be hoped that the new Republican Congress will support the concrete shipbuilding program for another six years at least," he said, "that the time and effort and efficiency of this type of hull will be firmly established and the industry can proceed with the support of public capital, but unless Congress recognize and assist us over this period the concrete shipyard will have to be shut down and the industry will receive a setback until it can again compete with the steel ship." The Eastbay's wonderful yard, from the standpoint of outfitting and hull building it is one of the cheapest and most efficient shipbuilding yards in the world and it would be a shame to shut it down and put it out of service.
Eight vessels of the type of the Palo Alto and Twilight could be built easily in the next year and they would all be welcome additions to the merchant marine of the United States.

"There is no mystery about concrete ships. The concrete steel ship is just an envelope to carry the steel, but it has been subjected to more prejudice, gossip and
"knee-capping" in spite of the success of this type of craft, than Robert Fulton's first steamboat.
"It is a sound business proposition, the hull can be built more cheaply than steel, the cost of maintenance is lower, there being no metal to corrode or constant repainting to be done. As to these hulls being subjected to a disintegrated condition while in the water, that is false. Practically all the modern lighthouse foundations in the world from the Arctic circle to the tropics are of concrete. The concrete hull is not the concrete hull."
Chairman Wig vigorously denied that the pioneer concrete ship, the Faith, built by W. Leslie Comyn and associates at the Government Island Shipbuilding Company, who are the contractors of the Government island yards, was not a success. "I saw this vessel a month ago when she was sold to a Canadian. At $210 a ton and she was as perfect and sound as any freighter on the Atlantic," he said.

OFFICIALS TO MEET TOMORROW

Mayor Davis of Oakland, Mayor
S. C. Irving of Berkeley and Mayor Frank Ous of Alameda have been invited to attend the luncheon. Other special guests will be Captain A. F.
Chilbury of the San Francisco office of the Shipping Board, A. J. Prey, in charge of the Government Island plant for the construction of the Faith, and
M. Theob, director of works.

It is expected that the luncheon room will be filled by members of the chamber of commerce and their friends, for more than 1500 invitations have been sent out.
Following the luncheon, Wig and the Shipping Board representatives will confer with officials of the chamber of commerce and the city on details of the launching ceremony. Among the features will be a number of rosters from Stanford University, together with their band.
They will be invited because of the university being situated at Palo Alto, the namesake of the vessel.

Lloyd George Plans to Visit America

PARIS, May 27.—Premier Lloyd George will visit America during the first half of next month, it was semi-officially stated today. The American delegation invited him to make the trip, it was stated, and he indicated probable acceptance.

Third Term? No, Hints Wilson All Americans to Set Example Tells of Monroe Doctrine Stand

PARIS, May 27.—President Wilson, in an address here last night, in which he touched briefly upon the league of nations and the opposition he had encountered in the United States to some of his plans, urged all Americans to unite and "set an example" to the people of other nations. The President was the principal speaker at a dinner given in honor of President-elect Pessoa of Brazil. In the course of his remarks he let drop a statement that was accepted by some as an announcement that he would not again be a candidate for the presidency when he said that it was delightful for him to know that "my presidency is not ahead of me," and that his (Pessoa's) presidency is ahead of him.

The President's address, which touched on the Monroe Doctrine, follows:

The honor has been accorded me of making the first speech tonight, and I am very glad to avail myself of that privilege. I want to say that I feel very much at home in this company, though after all I suppose, no one of us feels thoroughly at home except on the other side of the water. We all feel in a very real sense that we have a common home because we live in the atmosphere of the same conceptions, and I think with the same political ambitions and principles.

I am particularly glad to have the opportunity of paying my respects to Mr. Pessoa. I wish him every happiness and every success with the greatest cordiality, and let I cannot at I may judge by my own experience, expect for him a very great exaltation in the performance of the duties of his office because, after all, to be the head of an American state is a task of unrelieved responsibility.

YEARS WEIGHTED WITH ANXIETY

American constitutions as a rule put so many duties on the highest sort upon the President and so much of the responsibility of affairs of state is centered upon him that his years of office are apt to be years of a little weighted with anxiety, a little burdened with the sense of the obligation of speaking for his people, speaking what they really think, and endeavoring to accomplish what they really desire.

I suppose no more delicate task is given any man than to interpret the feelings and the purposes of a great people. I suppose no more delicate task is given any man than to speak for himself, the chief anxiety I have had is to be the true interpreter of a national spirit, expressing no private and peculiar views,
but trying to express the general spirit of a nation.

And a nation looks to its President to do that; and the comradeship of an evening like this does not come to me as a task of neighborliness. We are neighbors. We have always been friendly. But that is all old.
Something new has happened. I am not sure that I can before this night speak for myself, the chief anxiety I have had is to be the true interpreter of a national spirit, expressing no private and peculiar views,
but trying to express the general spirit of a nation.

And it is a delightful thought to believe that these are foundations which sprang up out of the soil of all America, and that the link of all Americans is not of course suggesting or believing that political liberty had its birth in the American hemisphere, because, of course, it had not, but the peculiar expression of its characteristic of the modern time, that broad republicanism, that genuine feeling and practice of democracy, that becoming characteristic of the modern world, did have its origin in America; and the response of the peoples of the world to this new expression of the world's common principles, a response to an American suggestion.

If that is true we owe a world a peculiar service. If we originated great principles we must ourselves be worthy of them. I remember not long ago attending a very interesting meeting which was held in the interest of combining Christian missionary effort throughout the world. I mean eliminating the rivalry between churches and agreeing that Christian missionaries should not represent this church or that church, but represent the general Christian impulse and principle of the world. I said I was thoroughly in sympathy with the principle, but that I hoped if it was adopted that the inhabitants of the heathen countries would not come to look at us, because we were not ourselves united, but divided; that while we were asking them to unite, we ourselves did not set the example.

ASK WORLD TO UNITE
FOR BROTHERHOOD.
My moral from that recollection.

We, among other friends of liberty, are asking the world to unite in the interest of brotherhood and mutual service and that or the United States, in individual and corporate liberty throughout the world, therefore we must set the example.

I will recall here to some of you an effort that I myself made in 1912, when I was elected President of the United States, in doing something which very closely resembled the formation of the present league of nations. I was ambitious to have the Americas do the thing first and set the example to the world of what we are now about to realize. I had a double object in it, not merely to set the example, but to show the genuineness of my principles, but that the United

PARIS, May 27.—The peace terms will be submitted to the Austrian delegates at a formal session at St.
Germain Friday noon, it was officially stated today.

The allied and associated governments have decided to suspend the blockade against Hungary the moment a stable government is established there, it was officially announced.

Completion of the Austrian treaty is being delayed because Italy is again manifesting a stubborn attitude regarding the Adriatic situation.
It is understood the Italian delegates are repeating the tactics they used before their recent temporary withdrawal from the peace conference, intimating they will retire from the sessions once more unless an agreement on their claims to Adriatic territories is reached soon.

The question of responsibilities is also offering difficulties.
ITALIANS OCCUPY
TOWN OF SOKKA.

The Italians, according to advices received here, have occupied the town of Sokka, in Asia-Minor, fifty miles southeast of Smyrna. Should they occupy the nearby harbor, they would be in the position of rivaling
Smyrna, it is pointed out.
German delegates at Versailles have declared unofficially they will not ask a further extension of time to discuss the treaty, and that their counter proposals will be ready by Thursday. Printing of their counter-proposals is well under way aboard the special train carrying printing equipment, which is being brought here from Germany for that purpose.

The actual press work is finished.
It is understood, but the binding will be another day.

was made, but it was believed probable he brought instructions from the government.

SMALL NAVY IS DANIELS' NEW PROGRAM

Abandon "Greatest Navy"
Plans to Keep Faith With World in League of Nations
Is the Plea of Secretary

England, France, Italy, Hold
Up Their Naval Building,
Awaiting U. S. Action—
Program of 1916 Is Urged

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Abandonment of the big navy program was recommended to the House naval affairs committee today by Secretary of the Navy Daniels.

The United States should show its faith in the league of nations covenant by eliminating the program
submitted to the last Congress, which would make the American navy second to none, Daniels said.

Daniels said he had assurances from Lloyd George and other allied statesmen that they were planning to follow the lead of the United States, and "that it was the war policy not to enter into any large construction program until the league of nations meets."

The secretary's stand today was a direct reversal of his recommendation last December.

"America has only two courses," Daniels said, "either to build the biggest navy in the world or we must have the league of nations."
The navy ought to have a training station in Southern California, Secretary Daniels told the committee.

HALF NAVY STRENGTH
FOR PACIFIC FLEET.

A Pacific fleet is being organized to include practically half the navy's fighting craft, Secretary Daniels told the House naval committee this afternoon.

Plans will be finished by July 1 and the newly-organized fleet will move into the Pacific this summer, Daniels added.

"Creation of two major fleets has been impossible in the past owing to the small size of the navy and our needs, he explained. Both Atlantic and Pacific fleets will be in command of an admiral.

1916 BUILDING PROGRAM
URGED FOR COMPLETION.
In asking elimination of the House program, which he recommended to the last Congress, Daniels added,
"We shall still have the regular three-year program." He urged that the 1916 building program be pushed through.

Whether for the completion of the present three-year program a composite ship, combining battleship and cruiser qualities, shall be built,
Daniels said, may be decided later.
The navy's plan is to build two new units on equipping the first-class fighting ships with twelve 16-inch guns. The present three-year program authorizes ten capital ships and six cruisers.

COST-PAVING PLAN WILL BE ELIMINATED

Contracts for two of the battleships have been awarded and the others will be let soon, Daniels said.
Four of the cruisers have been contracted for and the remaining two will be built at the Philadelphia navy yard.

Flyer Mounts to Yosemite; Hawker to Brave Sea Again

LIEUTENANT JAMES S. KRULL

"Phantom Plane" in Mid-Ocean Startles Tramp Steamer

Lieutenant James S. Krull, army aviator from Mather Field, flew from Merced to Yosemite Valley today in one hour and fifteen minutes. Lieutenant Krull is the aviator who flew from Oroville to Oakland with The TRIBUNE pictures of the 150th infantry on the arrival at Oroville of the regiment from overseas.

Krull was the first aviator to fly into Yosemite Valley, where only a few years ago automobiles were not permitted to enter. He left Merced at 5:50 a. m. and landed in the valley at 7:05 a. m. according to information reaching the field. No details of the flight were received here, but it was assumed Krull was forced to reach an altitude of 10,000 feet in order to clear the mountain peaks surrounding the valley.

He left Mather Field for Merced yesterday. He is expected to return to Mather field tomorrow.

PONTA DELGADA AZORES, May 27.—The American seaplane NC-4 was approaching the coast of Portugal this afternoon and from his seat in front of the cockpit Lieutenant Commander Read should sight Cape Roca, the first bit of the European continent to come into view, by 3:30 to 4 p. m. New York time.

Barring accident the NC-4 will arrive off Portugal's coast shortly after 4 p. m. New York time, and cut the mouth of the Tagus river at Lisbon less than half an hour later.

The latest dispatches received by Admiral Jackson this afternoon indicate that the seaplane was lessening her speed slightly as she approached the European coast, but there was no indication that this was due to engine trouble of any kind. She probably will first further reduce speed as she comes within sight of land and begin swinging about for entrance into Lisbon harbor, and this may delay her arrival until nearly 5 o'clock, New York time. The weather continued fine.

The last leg to the continent is be-the safety of the flyers, the navy has distributed the route from Ponta Delgada to Lisbon, approximately fifty nautical miles apart. Navy officials figured that the NC-4 if she continues her present rate of speed, will reach the

NORTH VS. SOUTH IN ROAD BATTLE

Northern California is pitted against Southern California in a contest to see which section can sell the most Yosemite road cortices, according to a telegram received this morning by Captain Joseph E. Caine, managing director of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, from Rudolph Spreckels, chairman of the Highway Association. The telegram is sent Captain Caine as vice-president of the Central California Yosemite Valley Highway Association. Subscriptions to the road fund may be made in the Eastbay cities at hotels, retail stores, oil stations, garages and automobile and accessory agencies. These receipts will be exchanged at the Oakland Chamber of Commerce for certificates of admittance to Yosemite.

Semi-Luxury Tax Repeal Favored in House Committee

(By Associated Press)

ALBANY TRUSTEES TO CLOSE SALOONS

ALBANY, May 27.—Whether President Wilson's recommendations that war-time prohibition measures be repealed are heeded by Congress or not, the city of Albany will go "bone dry." Warning was given to Albany's three saloons and two wholesale liquor houses at last night's meeting of the board of trustees that no liquor licenses will be issued after July 30, when the present licenses held by saloonmen expire. Mayor O. C. Marr in issuing the proclamation declared that the trustees had had the matter under consideration for some months and had decided to give the city the distinction of going dry by its own edict rather than by national law.

MAN ALLEGES HE WAS JILTED; SEEKS $10,000

Reversing the usual order of plaintiff and defendant in breach of promise law suit, John Moore today sued Mary F. Blanka for $10,000, alleging that she broke her promise to marry him, thereby causing him damages in the amount claimed. The complaint is brief and reveals none of the circumstances of the interrupted romance alleged except that in August, 1918, the defendant entered into a solemn promise that she would marry the plaintiff within a reasonable time, which she later failed to fulfill.

I'M NOT AFTER ANOTHER TERM, HINTS WILSON

States should have a new relation to the other Americas.
The United States upon a famous occasion warned the governments of Europe that it would regard it as an unfriendly act if they tried to overturn free institutions in the western hemisphere and to substitute their own systems of government, which at that time were inimical to those of institutions; but while the United States thus undertook its own motion to be the champion of America against such aggression from Europe, it did not give any conclusive assurance that it would never itself be the aggressor. What I wanted to do in the proposals to which I have just referred was to offer to the other American states our own bond that they were safe against us and any illicit ambitions we might entertain, as well as safe, so far as the power of the United States could make them safe against foreign nations.

IMPULSE LEADS TO SORT OF PLEDGE.
Of course, I am sorry that happy consummation did not come, but after all no doubt the impulse was contributed to by us which has now led to a sort of mutual pledge on the part of all the self governing nations of the world that they will be friends to each other, not only, but that they will take pains to secure each other's safety and independence and territorial integrity.
No greater thing has ever happened in the political world than that, and I am particularly gratified tonight to think of the hours I have had the pleasure of spending with Mr. Pessoa as a member, along with him, of the commission on the league of nations which prepared the covenant which was submitted to the conference. I have felt as I looked down the table and caught his eyes that we had the same American mind in regard to the business, and when I made suggestions or used arguments that I felt were characteristically American I would always catch sympathy in his eyes. When others perhaps did not catch the point at once, he always caught it, because though we were not bred to the same language literally, we were bred to the same political language and the same political thought and our ideas were the same.
It is, therefore, with a real sense of communication and of fellowship and of something more than neighborly familiarity that I find myself in this congenial company, and that I take my part with you in paying my tribute and extending my warmest best wishes to the great country of Brazil and to the gentleman who will worthily represent her in her presidential capacity. I ask you to join with me in drinking the health of the President-elect of Brazil.

DYNAMITE IS FOUND BY BOY IN FOOTHILLS

BERKELEY, May 27.—Mystery surrounding the finding of three sticks of dynamite together with caps and fuses, in the Berkeley hills, within a stone's throw of the homes of many wealthy residents of the college city, is causing an investigation to be made today under the direction of Chief of Police August Vollmer.
The dynamite was discovered about a block and one-half from the end of the Euclid avenue car line by Harold Fry, 13 years old, of 1400 Irving street. Young Fry was tramping in the hills when his foot caught in a newspaper package. Opening the bundle he discovered the dynamite. He immediately conveyed his find to the Berkeley police station. Fry showed evidences of long exposure to the elements.

TWO BEERS "KICKLESS," SAYS COURT

BERKELEY, May 27.—Two beers cannot make a person intoxicated, according to Judge Robert Edgar of Berkeley, who acquitted Gus Johnson of Redkey, Fresno county, of a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. According to the story told by Johnson to the judge, he had had two small beers with a lapse of six hours between each one on Sunday before striking Stanley Ellis of Oakland with his automobile at Grove and Adeline streets.
"That's no jax at all," declared the judge. "Defendant acquitted."

Order Stock Sale for Attorney's Fee

SAN FRANCISCO, May 27.—The long litigation of Henry J. and Francis A. Woodward vs. Henry C. Cutting was completed today when Federal Judge William C. Van Fleet ordered the payment of $7,025 to Clayberg and Whitmore, attorneys for the Woodward brothers, being their fee in the case. The court ordered the payment of this sum within 60 days or the sale at public auction by United States Marshal James E. Holohan at the front door of the post office of 1175 shares of the capital stock of the Ft. Richmond Canal and Land Co., now standing on the books of this company in the name of the Monetary Trust Co., of which Cutting is president.

CONFERENCE IS PLANNED ON U.S. PROBLEMS

By ROBERT J. BENDER.
United Press Staff Correspondent.
WASHINGTON, May 27.—President Wilson has under consideration recommended plans for conferences to clear up some of America's domestic problems. One of these would involve a call for a national industrial and economic conference, at which a "new bill of rights" would be developed by capital and labor.

Another would involve a get-together conference of indefinite duration, participated in by all constructive leaders in the country, such as capital, labor, suffragists, "antis," socialists, etc., in an effort to reach a common ground that will end industrial and domestic strife, or at least minimize its possibility.

SPONSORED BY LABOR.
The first plan is sponsored by labor officials and has been urged by some industrial chiefs. Members of the war labor board, who today began the first session of what is expected to be their last meeting, plan to frame a program for consideration at the proposed industrial and economic conference.

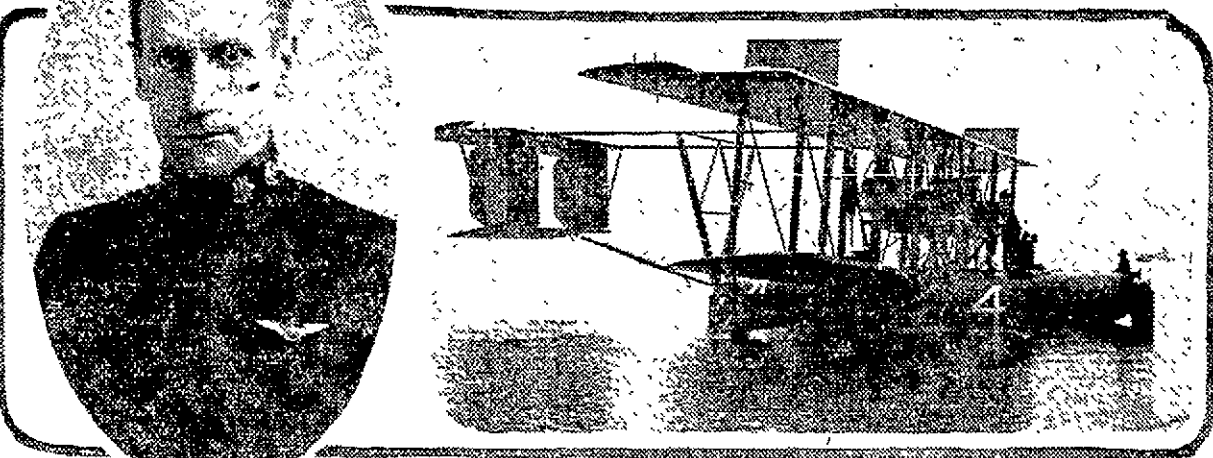

As tentatively outlined, this plan would provide voluntary arbitration by both sides to a general program, eliminating compulsory arbitration. The conference would be asked to consider setting up a general industrial court modeled on principles already tested by the war labor board.

President Wilson would appoint presiding officials of the court, who would represent the public. Other members would be named by capital and labor.

SECOND PLAN UNIQUE.
The second plan—for a gathering of representatives of the many movements now agitating the nation's populace—is admitted by its author to be a unique one, but designed to "convert" the many crazies into one current. It has been submitted to suffrage leaders and various "big guns" of the administration with various responses, some favorable. A majority feel that a congress such as this plan involves, however, would get a hodgepodge of delegates with the possibility of the event becoming ridiculous. The plan has been submitted to the President, however, along with others.

That he will mark his return with some step toward accomplishing a better understanding between capital and labor is felt certain here.

The earliest dream of aviation and the latest word. Upper picture showing imaginary flight was drawn and published in a New York magazine in 1835 when navigation of the air was declared to be impossible. The NC-4 and its commander, LIEUTENANT READ, are shown in the lower pictures, which are copyrighted by Underwood & Underwood.

David H. Walker, Newspaperman, Dies

SAN FRANCISCO, May 27.—David H. Walker, a newspaperman in this city for over twenty-five years, died yesterday at his home, 2243 Steiner street, at the age of 67. Until very recently, he had been a member of the staff of an afternoon newspaper here.

Walker was known for his versatility, being well known as a writer on financial subjects. He also wrote children's stories, music and art criticism.

He is survived by a widow and four children, Mrs. Catherine Pendergast, Miss Nellie Laura Walker, David H. Walker, Jr., and Lieutenant Frank F. Walker. A sister, Laura A. Walker, lives in Walnut Creek. The funeral will be held tomorrow from the family home.

Rhine Inspection Completed by Foch

PARIS, May 27.—Marshal Foch, the allied generalissimo, who has just completed a trip of inspection along the Rhine, had a conference with Premier Clemenceau, who is also minister of war.

FLYERS NEARING EUROPE'S SHORES

Lisbon, awaiting the NC-4's arrival. Watchers stationed themselves on the hill and at Colares, on the seacoast, eager for the first glimpse of the American plane.

PONTA DELGADA, Azores, May 27.—Carrying America's hopes for success in the trans-Atlantic flight, the seaplane NC-4 winged away from here at 6:15 (New York time) this morning on the last leg of the trip across the ocean.

Lieutenant Commander Read said before the start that he expected to reach Lisbon, Portugal, before 4 o'clock this afternoon (New York time), completing the flight across the Atlantic. The distance from Ponta Delgada to Lisbon is approximately 500 nautical miles.

If the NC-4 flies to Portugal without mishap, she will continue on to Plymouth, England.

A big crowd saw the take off this morning. The weather was almost perfect. The sun glinted on the shiny polished surfaces of the seaplane's upper wings as she wheeled about in the harbor in preliminary tests and then, gathering speed, dashed off and rose into the air like a great bird. The shore crowds cheered, the sailors sent up a series of shouts and whistles toot an accompaniment.

The first report of the seaplane's progress came about an hour after she left here. She passed station No. 1 at 7:15 (New York time) and sent the following message to Admiral Jackson:

"We seem to be on our way. Many thanks for your hospitality." SLIGHT DELAY DUE TO ENGINE TROUBLE.
The crew boarded the NC-4 an hour before sunrise, taking food supplies aboard and making final preparations for the flight. The weather experts announced that the winds were mostly northwest along the course from the Azores to Portugal. Trouble with the seaplane's port engine slightly delayed the start this morning.

Lieutenant Commander Read said he hopes to resume the flight to Plymouth tomorrow, though his air voyage officially ends at Lisbon. Thirteen destroyers line the course from here to Lisbon.

No Joy in Jail; Mose Has Lost His Knife
Mose Amersbach is in jail again, but that is an old story. Mose has been a regular boarder at the city jail table for many years, and there is always a story when he fails to be rounded in.

However, Mose is discouraged this time. His knife, which has been entered in the big jail record every time Mose has reported for duty, has been lost, and now Mose declares there will be no pleasure in getting out. Some one stole it, he says.

Chauffeur Beaten; Thrown Out to Die

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., May 27.—Deputy sheriffs of two counties combed the country south of Bakersfield today for an unidentified Mexican who, after being Elmer Greer of Bakersfield to drive him from Taft to Los Angeles, robbed him of his watch and $35, and beat him so badly that he died of his injuries.

The murder was committed forty miles southwest of this city. Greer was thrown from the car by his slayer. He was not quite dead and apparently revived sufficiently to drag himself about 100 yards into a field. There his dead body was found.

If you see it in THE TRIBUNE, tell them so. Thank you.

Suspect's Wife Tries to Hide Letters

SAN FRANCISCO, May 27.—John E. Malley, secretary of the local I. W. W., who was arrested in a raid on the headquarters at 1135 Mission street yesterday afternoon, probably will be the first man to be prosecuted under the new "criminal syndicalism" bill recently passed by the legislature. The books of the local chapter, membership list, and correspondence were seized and taken to headquarters.

Malley is held for investigation by the immigration authorities as an undesirable alien. His wife, said by Captain O'Meara to be a Russian radical and a native of Russia, attempted to obtain possession of certain letters addressed to Malley.

Styles Legislature

Bummet Ever Held

HONOLULU, May 1.—(By Mail.)—When the territorial legislature ended its biennial session last night, H. L. Holstein, speaker of the house for a number of terms and for many years a member of the legislature, issued a statement to the press in which he said in part:

"The legislature is pau (Hawaiian for finished) and it ought to be pau. It is the bummet legislature we ever had. It compares with those sessions in 1901 and 1902 when graft was so pronounced that a few of the elect were put behind bars for a few years."

members of the house for their behavior during the session, and included the senate in his sweeping denunciation of the work of the legislature. His statement was based on the charge that the 1919 legislature had almost utterly failed to enact any constructive legislation and had largely confined itself to "pork barrel" raids on the treasury.

KAHN WAGES FIGHT FOR SHIPYARDS

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Pacific coast members of the House of Representatives organized with the election of Representative Kahn as chairman and Representative McArthur of Portland as secretary. The object of the organization is to have all House members from California, Oregon and Washington work in Congress as a unit for Pacific coast interests and legislation.

Two important matters were considered by the combined delegations at a meeting in Representative Kahn's office.

Pacific coast shipbuilders, who are here protesting against the United States Shipping Board cancelling the contracts for steel ships in the yards on the coast, presented their side of the case to the Congressmen.

LABOR TROUBLE SEEN. It was declared by the builders that if Chairman Kahn persisted in his intention to cancel the contracts more than 120,000 men in the coast yards would be thrown out of employment and an immense loss would result to the whole coast. A committee consisting of Representatives Nolan of California, McArthur of Oregon and Hadley of Washington was appointed to present the claims of the builders to the shipping board.

This committee was instructed to lodge a strong protest against cancellation of contracts.

Following the meeting in Representative Kahn's office another conference was held this afternoon in the office of Senator Jones of Washington, attended by all the Senators and Representatives from California, Oregon and Washington.

The shipping contract matter was thrashed over again and arrangements made for a hearing next Wednesday in the Senate office building at which representatives of both the shipbuilders and the shipping board will be heard.

UP IN ARMS. The Pacific coast Congressmen are up in arms against any curtailment of shipbuilding and it is probable they will be able to prevail on the shipping board not to cancel the contracts in the western yards. The Congressmen are anxious to have appropriations made at this session that will enable the shipping board to continue the existing contracts in Pacific coast yards and even to provide for future keels.

Lowell Teacher Gives Up His Certificate

SACRAMENTO, May 27.—Ferdinand A. Varelman, former teacher in Lowell high school, San Francisco, cited to appear before the state board of education at its July meeting to show cause why his credential should not be revoked has written Will C. Wood, superintendent of public instruction, that he rescinds and forfeits all rights to teach in the schools of the state and withdraws his application for a renewal of his credential.

Charges were filed with the state board to the effect that Varelman, while a teacher in Lowell high school, distributed inflammatory literature to the pupils in his classes.

SERVICE MEN ASK DEMOBILIZATION

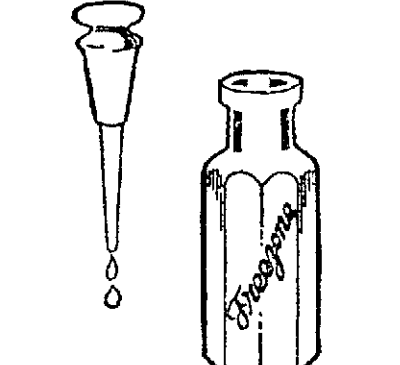

BAKERSFIELD, May 27.—The Kern County Service Men's Association, with 425 members, last night unanimously adopted a resolution offered by Thomas W. McManus, returned soldier, requesting congress immediately to pass the bill for the immediate demobilization of the American forces in foreign and domestic service, and that the armed forces be restored to peace-time strength.

The text of the resolution follows: "Whereas, There is now pending before the House of Representatives a bill introduced by Hon. Julius Kahn, and a bill before the Senate introduced by Hon. Hiram W. Johnson, to compel the immediate demobilization of the armed forces of the United States in foreign and domestic service and that the armed forces of the United States be restored to peace-time strength; therefore, be it Resolved, That we, the Kern County Service Men's Association, veterans of the world war, urge Congress immediately and favorably to consider these measures."

The Kern county association is composed of soldiers, sailors and marines and was organized last winter to cooperate with the Department of the Interior of the soldiers' homestead policy.

LIFT OFF CORNS WITH FINGERS

Doesn't hurt a bit and costs only few cents

Drop a little Freezone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out. Yes, magic! A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation. Freezone is the sensational discovery of a Cincinnati genius. It is wonderful.—Advertisement

A "Wake-Up" flavor for Salads

Of course your palate can't taste the wholesome nourishment in COVO. But we doubt if there exists a single sleepy appetite which won't say, when introduced to the delightful flavor of this new salad oil,—"Hello, here's something new and mighty good." One New York hostess says Covo chicken salad is always "the life of the party."

Try it on your guests. Here's the recipe:

COVO WITH CHICKEN

Cut chicken into half-inch cubes. Add an equal amount of tender white celery cut into small pieces. Mix thoroughly together with a little finely chopped onion. Moisten with French dressing. Line salad bowl with lettuce. Pile salad in mound. Mask with Mayonnaise a la Covo, and decorate with sliced hard boiled eggs or delicately cutted beets. Olives, too, may be used for a garnish. Use this recipe for cold veal.

MOST of your cooking recipes call for shortening. Try Covo in cakes, cookies, in fact, wherever a fine shortening is needed. When you taste the results, you'll understand why the managing chef of the Waldorf, the McAlpin and the Claridge recommends Covo.

Miss Helen Wehe Announces
Her Engagement to Ensign Fred Richardson.

BERKELEY, May 27.—Revealing a pretty romance of the campus, Miss Helen Wehe, popular member of the University of California, today announced her engagement to Ensign Fred Richardson, U. S. N.

Miss Wehe is one of the first of the co-eds in the senior class to make her secret known and more confessions from her classmates are anticipated before the end of the year. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Wehe of Berkeley. Her father is an attorney, who is now stationed at Mare Island.

Ensign Richardson, who is now stationed at Mare Island, comes of a family equally well known in the bay section. He is a graduate of the University of California with the class of 1918 and is the son of Professor and Mrs. F. P. Richardson, former residents of Berkeley, but now of Birmingham, Alabama, where Professor Richardson holds a chair in Birmingham college. Ensign Richardson is a member of the Phi Kappa Phi fraternity.

No plans have been made for the wedding as yet.

NEW YORK, May 27.—Transporters expected to arrive today were: Fred Frederik, Wilhelm, with 242d field artillery, 242d machine gun battalion and 241st field signal battalion.

Europe, with 79th machine gun battalion and first army headquarters troops.

The Thomas arrived this morning with 50th engineer service battalion.

The Edward Luckenbach, due yesterday, is behind her schedule and will not arrive before tomorrow. It was stated at the port of embarkation.

Major H. D. Langille, Portland, Ore., commanded the troops on the Roma.

Youths Confess to Slaying Watchman
SANTA BARBARA, May 27.—Edwin Langdon, 23, son of a Los Angeles contractor, in jail at San Luis Obispo, with Hugh Moore, 19, of Eugene, Ore., has confessed to killing David Morhouse, night watchman of Fuso Robles, in a revolver battle on the night of May 2, according to the police.

They were later arrested at Fresno, charged with robbing a till of a gasoline station.

Streets Have First Repairs in 40 Years
That main streets in West Oakland are to be repaired at once has been decided in an unofficial conference of members of the city council, fourteenth street, Market street, Fourteenth street, and other main streets in the district. Market street is to be repaved as soon as possible, and West Fourteenth, West Twelfth, and other streets are to be improved. Some of the streets involved have not been repaired for forty years.

CITY CANNOT PAY FOR CARDS, DAVIE ROILED

Two stormy scenes enlivened the city council proceedings today when Mayor Davie registered a spirited protest against the beginning of proceedings for $800,000 worth of street work, and later clashed with City Attorney Hagan and Commissioner Soderberg, when Hagan reported the council could not legally pay the bill for the cards of appreciation given by the mayor to returning soldiers.

After Hagan had reported that the bill for the cards could not be paid by the city, Soderberg suggested that the mayor might find the money out of that mayor's emergency fund that he does not have to account to anybody for.

"That fund is my business," retorted the mayor. "What's the idea of throwing that up to me. I don't have to tell you or anyone else what I do with that fund and I'm tired of this kind of business. It's small business, neighbor, small business."

COULD NOT LEGALLY PAY.
Hagan's legal opinion was written in answer to the council's request for an opinion on how to pay the bill for the appreciation certificates, which cost $475. Hagan held that as these certificates were granted by the city, they could not legally be paid. "Nor can they be considered as advertisement, as they do not spread abroad the fair name of the city," said the city attorney.

"It's a big joke," I might have expected a report like that," commented the mayor. "Here every city in the United States gives medals or certificates to its returned boys, and small business in Oakland seeks to hold it up."

The matter was laid over, pending an effort by the council to discover a legal way to pay the bill.

"We are for this bill," said Commissioner Soderberg. "We know it should be paid and that the boys should have these certificates. I think we should find a way to fix it up."

OPPOSED BY DAVIE.
Hostilities opened when the street improvement program, calling for $800,000 worth of street work along the waterfront regions came up. Davie said:

"I am absolutely against anything in here at the last minute, just before the new administration comes in, with a lot of leases or contracts have been put on the city. It's always been the crooked deals that have been put through in the last weeks of an administration. Eight years ago they gave away the city from front to back. They put through that Lawrence warehouse deal, giving a concession for our $50,000 warehouse. It's time we stopped this kind of crooked stuff. If there's always something wrong in it somewhere, the city always gets stuck."

"I don't see why the city's business should be held up because of a man's coming in," said Commissioner Jackson. "Besides, it won't change the majority in this council anyhow."

"Well, I'm against all transactions of the kind until the man comes in who's going to take your place," said Davie. "I am not against those improvements, but I am against eleven-hour proceedings."

VOTES FOR WORK.
When the vote was called Davie voted with the rest of the commissioners for the work, although he held that while the work was necessary it should be delayed until Commissioner Jackson, William J. Baez, takes charge of the department. The street improvements ordered for the next year in the budget of the city are: $500,000, and with the $300,000 worth ordered last week in East Oakland, bring Oakland's street contracts up to $800,000.

The street improvements are as follows: Paving of Fifth street, from Clay to Cypress; Washington, from First to Seventh; Jefferson, from First to Twelfth; Castro, from First to Seventh; Alcega, from Second to Seventh; Harrison, from Second to Seventh; Oak, from Second to Seventh; Ninth, from Jefferson to Washington; Ninth, from Alcega to Oak; Tenth, from Clay to Market; Eleventh, from Jefferson to Market; Twelfth, from Market to Wood; Fourteenth, from Market to Wood.

Truck Driver Held for Bachman's Death
SAN FRANCISCO, May 27.—Sergeant R. E. Hewson, Presidio tracks driver, is under arrest for manslaughter today as a result of the death of Leopold S. Bachman, wealthy stockbroker, after he was struck by Hewson's truck. The accident happened in front of the city hall, where a car was backing out of a street car. Police Officer T. J. Cashin, says he saw the accident, and that the driver, a man named Bachman, 22 years of age, had been a patient at the Adler and was returning there. Three children survive him.

Henry P. Bartlett's Funeral Tomorrow
The funeral of Henry Paine Bartlett, known in automobile circles as Speed Bartlett, will be held tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock from the family home, 11 Echo avenue, where he died of a sudden heart attack yesterday morning and died before medical aid could be summoned. He is survived by a widow, Mrs. Louise A. Bartlett.

Bartlett was the son of Major C. S. Bartlett and the late Mrs. Mary J. Bartlett. During the trouble on the Mexican border he volunteered for service with an Oakland company, which saw active duty.

Takes Man to Hospital Blamed for Accident
James E. Kilburn, 33, thirty-four years old, was taken to the hospital today after being involved in an automobile accident on Broadway and Twelfth street last night and although he did not get a good look at the driver who hit him, he supposed that Clifford Thompson, the man who took him to the emergency hospital, was the guilty party. Thompson, he said, was only a witness and in no way involved in the accident, but was trying to do the injured man a favor by getting him to the Emergency Hospital as quickly as possible.

Deaf and Blind Given Diplomas "Handicaps Make Success," Slogan

BERKELEY, May 27.—With diplomas given to 23 students, annual commencement exercises were held last evening at the California School for the Deaf and the Blind.

Mrs. Anna L. Saylor, Berkeley, assemblyman, presented the diplomas and delivered the commencement address. "Life's handicaps are what make life successful," Mrs. Saylor told the graduates. "The rich man's son has not an equal chance in life with the poor man's son."

The greatest success in the world is to overcome handicaps. Honor medals for the year's work were presented by William Van Ness, president of the board of directors of the State institution, the awards being provided for annually by the California Association of Deaf and Blind. Minnie Cardozo was the winner of the gold medal, Henry Blane the silver medal, and John Pendergast the bronze medal.

An interesting feature was the reading of the names of the graduates by blind students to graduate. Dean Van Ness read the names of the graduates in an original poem, "Facing the Battle of Life."

MUSIC IS FEATURE.
Other features of the program followed: Chorus, "The Little Land," "A Tattered Tale," primary class; piano duet, "Mountain Glen," Ruth Fulton and Jean Van Ness; essay and valedictory, deaf department, Edwin Benedict; vocal solo with violin and organ obligato—Angels Serenade (Lange); Maria Schmitt, Louise Miller, Toska Schultz; "Roaming in the Gloaming," Jean Van Ness; parsel drill, Intermediate deaf children; rhythm work, first and second grade deaf children; essay and valedictory, blind department, Henry M. Hudd, blind dance, Esther Anderson; Pizzicato polka, Mae Perkins; "Alma," primary chorus, orchestra, "Air de Ballet" (Borelli), Louise Miller, Dorothy Morrell, Toska Schultz, Marion Shorten, James Gray, Hervey Hoskins, Raymond Wilber, chorus, "May Time" (W. Renshaw) and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," sung by the following: Edna M. Blinn, Honoluli; Dorothy Glad, Minnie Rose E. Reilly, Anderson; Toska E. Schultz, Eureka; Marian E. Shorten, San Francisco; M. Louise Wilber, Fresno. High school certificates were awarded to Anthony Cunha, San Lorenzo; Roy Ernst, Sacramento. The following are the graduates from grammar grades: Edwin C. Benedict, Minnie I. Cardozo, Melitina Cayuga, M. E. Cardozo, Ethel M. de Wit, Vincent, Genitigant, Jane C. Gibellini, Lillie Lee, Oscar R. Lee, Robert J. McArthur, Neola R. McCall, Robert J. McArthur, Carl O. Nelson, Noma O. Sangmaster, Edith L. Staats, Edna A. Thom-Wohrden, Ada Young, Edna A. PAYS TRIBUTE TO RED CROSS WOMEN
That the women of the American Red Cross did more to build up the morale and general spirit of the French soldiers and citizens than any other factor, was the assertion of Marshall Hale of San Francisco in a talk at the monthly luncheon of the Alameda county auxiliary of the Travelers Aid Society of California in the Hotel Oakland today.

Hale, who spent six months overseas with the Red Cross workers, says that the people here at home have but a meager conception of the great service rendered abroad by that organization.

Marshall Hale, secretary of the local auxiliary of the Travelers Aid Society, explained the work that had been accomplished in this community by the society. He said that the society had 175 members, and that it had been successful in cases of women and child stamper, who had been met at the various depots of this city and directed to proper hotels and rooming houses.

Hale, who said that last year they had 600 cases of non-English speaking girls who arrived here and were assigned to proper quarters. She told of the need of additional workers.

At the close of the luncheon, a number of the committee of reception at the trains, told of the follow-up work of the auxiliary and of the good results that had thus been accomplished.

$6300 ROBBERY IS CONFESSED
SAN FRANCISCO, May 27.—Frank Barton, alias Albert Brown, said to be a former convict was implicated in a confession made by Percy Randolph, a negro chauffeur and former skipper of Edward W. Hadley, whose home robbery of $6300 yesterday by three men Hadley, and his wife had been bound and gagged by the thieves. Barton, it is said, was sent to the penitentiary for a term of years for a similar crime.

Captain of Detectives Duncan Matheson said today that the robbery had been confessed by Randolph, who is under arrest with Barton. Another man known as "Barney" had also been arrested. Barton is being sought by Detectives Hunter and McLaughlin. Barton refuses to talk, but when arrested had in his possession a suitcase containing several hundred dollars, which have been identified as being from the family home.

City Health Survey Work Is Under Way
Full details of the health survey plan in which the State Board of Health will investigate conditions in Oakland and report in full on diseases, figures, communicability, sanitation and other factors, together with educational work, are in the hands of Commissioner P. H. Morse and Dr. Herbert J. Samuels, head of the Chamber of Commerce Health Committee. Dr. P. H. Gilliam of the State Board of Health is in charge of the survey.

Teacher Exonerated on Disloyalty Charge
BERKELEY, May 27.—An investigation of charges of alleged disloyalty against a teacher in the Garfield school conducted by the Berkeley School Board exonerated the educator of all accusations made against her. Report of the findings of a special committee was made at a meeting of the board of the school and the charges were declared to be without foundation.

Auto Deaths Blamed to Unlighted Road
ALAMEDA, May 27.—Faster facts were disclosed at the coroner's inquest yesterday to inquire into the deaths of Minnie Gutknecht and Harold Hoff, who died in auto collisions in the Alameda auto accident two weeks ago Sunday. The auto turned over at 3 o'clock in the morning as the party of six were on their way to Sacramento. The accident occurred where construction work is under way. The highway is washed off with a hose and the car was stuck in the obstruction, later going over an embankment where a railroad grade crossing is being altered. The auto was tipped over by the quick application of the brakes at high speed.

Ralph Smith, the only one of the party to survive, said that one of the party had been drinking. Smith was positive that the warning sign on the road a short distance back from the obstruction and embankment was not lighted. The coroner's jury rendered a verdict of death from accident and recommended that steps be taken to prevent such a disaster.

MAYOR TO FIGHT PARK MEMORIAL

That he will order the disbandment of the committee of one hundred that he organized to consider a fitting memorial for Oakland's soldiers and replace it with a new committee is threatened by Mayor Davie today. Davie says that he will revoke the appointment of the members of the present committee and reorganize it, because, he charges, "a lot of rotten egg-busters have gotten into it to put over a park scheme."

According to Davie he organized the committee to plan a memorial for the purpose of considering the veterans' organizations could meet and he proposes that it be placed near the Auditorium or somewhere about the lake in connection with his lake development plan.

The committee will meet tomorrow night in the city hall, at which time the mayor will launch a fight against the park plan. Delegations of veterans, he says, will be also present to protest.

Married on Dare; Seeks Annulment
Contending that a marriage contracted as a result of a dare or a drinking party is illegal, Mrs. Margaret E. Lutzen, who on December 6, 1918, became the wife of Joseph A. Lutzen, a marine engineer, filed suit for annulment today. The complaint alleges that at dinner party where wine flowed freely, the dare to be married was offered and accepted. Immediately after the wedding, Mrs. Lutzen declares, they separated.

Drunk is alleged to be the wreck of the domestic happiness of three couples involved in today's divorce suit list. Mrs. Louisann Turner is suing Nehemiah Turner, Mrs. Ruby Connor complains against Henry A. Connor, and Peter Delgandi is plaintiff against Anna Delgandi, each complaint alleging intoxication.

After tearing up her marriage certificate, Milton M. Moore told her husband that "that's how much I care for you." Frank De Monte alleges in a divorce complaint.

In a complaint against Milton A. Dickinson, Edith M. Dickinson alleges that she had devoted her life to him and to dependent relatives and charity for support.

Victory Bonds Are Ready for Purchasers
Victory Loan bonds are ready for their purchasers. This announcement was made by local banks today. The several thousand Eastbay subscribers to the latest of Uncle Sam's money saving drive are urged by calling at the banks or other places where they subscribed.

The special request is made that subscribers take as early delivery of the bonds as possible. It is expected, however, that this urgency will not be necessary, as most of the subscribers have been merely awaiting word of the availability of the bonds to take them up. Oakland was the last large city in the West to announce that it had gone over the top in the recent issue. Berkeley, Alameda and other neighboring cities are equally prompt.

SUTTER BY-PASS BILL IS SIGNED

SACRAMENTO, May 27.—The Purkitt bill appropriating $3,000,000 of state funds for flood control work along the Sutter By-Pass in Sutter county was signed today. The bill provided that the appropriation be made at the rate of $300,000 annually over a period of ten years beginning July 1, 1921.

Opponents of the bill declared approval of the measure would definitely pledge the state to a program of State aid for flood control and would entail expenditures aggregating $25,000,000 ultimately.

TEACHERS TO PLAN UNITED SALARY FIGHT

The Alameda County Educational Association, with a membership strength of 1700, was designated by a formal resolution adopted last night at a mass meeting of the educational organization of the county, as the body to carry on the campaign directed toward obtaining for the teachers a substantial increase in salary.

The existing conditions in the Alameda county have been represented at the important conference in the Oakland high school, called especially to consider ways and means of accomplishing better pay for teachers throughout the district. More than 200 men and women pedagogues were present.

It is pointed out that with the signing of certain bills appropriating larger funds for school purposes by the governor the increase will take care of little more than the additional teachers who are needed in the growing cities, although in districts where populations are at a standstill better salaries may be looked for.

Throughout Alameda county educational will participate in a joint campaign to publicly demand the coming three months. While the executive body of the Alameda County Educational Association will officially direct the drive for higher salaries each local educational organization will look out after the situation in its own community. It is declared by the leaders that this is the first time in Alameda county when a large group of professional people have voluntarily come together to cooperate under one organization in a definite program.

The committee of the county body includes Mrs. Sue L. Fratis, Oakland, president; Miss M. C. Wade, Berkeley, vice-president; Miss Alice O. Hunt, Alameda, secretary; D. J. Martin, Livermore, treasurer; George Kette, Berkeley; George Sackett, Oakland; Arthur Heche, Alameda; C. A. Harwell, San Leandro. For campaign purposes the committee has been enlarged to include Miss Elizabeth Arlett, Miss Lulu Shelton, Oakland; Miss Kiefer, Mr. Lowell, Berkeley; Miss Florence Bradley, Alameda; John Norton, Piedmont.

St. Mihiel Meant Much to U.S. Army First Battle For American Forces Could Allies Win Without Aid?

By MRS. HUMPHRY WARD.

St. Mihiel was not a costly victory for the American army. Von Gallwitz, the German commander, had already determined on retirement when the American attack forestalled him. The American troops—numbering approximately 600,000 men—and certain French units supporting them, achieved an important result with small losses. But—and he remembered I am writing as an Englishman—American accounts and British views of the American success—the operation, as the first battle of an independent American army, must always remain one of extraordinary interest and importance, even though the palm of difficulty and of sacrifice must be given rather to the splendid fighting on the Marne in June and July, or to the performance of the two brilliant divisions, the Twenty-seventh and the Thirtieth, serving under Sir Henry Rawlinson, a fortnight ago.

St. Mihiel, on the Hindenburg line, "The original attack," says one of the best-informed of British military observers, "was carried out with extraordinary dash by very eager and physically magnificent soldiers."

What an army the American army would have been if the war had lasted through this year! The qualities of the individual soldier, the mastery of the modern war, the splendid modern war, already promised by the American campaign during the six months' campaign of 1918—above all, the comparative freshness of the American effort—would have made them no doubt the leading force among the nations behind the line. But it would have taken at least six months more fighting, the loss of thousands more precious and irreplaceable lives, and the squandering of vast additional wealth in the battles of 1919.

Thank God, we did not win without America! The effects, the far-reaching effects, of America's intervention, of her comradeship in the field of suffering, of her aid with the first and old Europe, are only now beginning to show themselves above the horizon. They will be actively and, as at least the men and women of faith among us have benefited at work when his generation has long passed away.

NEAR SCENE OF BIG DRIVE.

It was late when we left Verdun on the afternoon of the day which saw at its beginning the splendid advance of the St. Mihiel battle, and the winter daylight had passed into darkness before we began to run through a corner of the Argonne on our way to St. Mihiel and Chalons, passing by the wholly ruined village of Clermont in Argonne.

The forest ran past us, a wintry, fairyland, dimly lit by our quick-moving lamps, and apparently impenetrable beyond their range, an optical effect, however, that may be produced in darkness by a mere fringe of trees along the roadside. But I knew what I watched the extensive effects of brown and silver produced by succession of tall pale trunks rising above the larchwork of the underwood, as scene after scene pressed upon us out of the dark, that we were indeed in a forest country, only some twenty miles away from the scene of General Pershing's drive at the end of last September, when he achieved on the first day an advance of over thirty miles through the Argonne, while General Gouraud was pushing forward in Champagne.

I found myself speculating in the dark on the many discussions I had heard both among English and Americans of that advance, and of the check which held up the first brilliant operations.

TOUGH JOB FOR AMERICANS.

But as one of the ablest of military critics, himself a soldier of great distinction, expressed it to me: "Each had set the Americans an uncommonly hard task, one of the toughest in the war—and in spite of difficulties General Pershing never ceased to push on. By October 3 he had reached Grand-pré, the leading out of the Argonne, leaving the confused and broken country of the front district behind him, and before the armistice arrived, as we all know, the American army, after fighting forty-seven days and taking 15,000 prisoners, was at Sedan, on that tragic field which saw the

SHOW HANDICAP FROM ACCIDENTS

Covering practically every line of work from street sweeping to banking, the Industrial Accident Commission of California has completed a survey of 700 cases where injury is so serious in character as to constitute at least an industrial and economic handicap, according to a bulletin just issued by the commission.

It is pointed out that the survey covered many communities and applied to numerous occupations. This information was obtained, according to the bulletin, by experienced investigators from living sources themselves. The investigators met the injured in their homes, in their places of employment and in the office of the commission.

SURVEY IS THOROUGH.

The bulletin says in part: "The immediate object of the investigation was to find out what have been the consequences of accidents and injuries in the past, for the general welfare of the injured persons and their families. Physicians, employers and insurance companies had reported the injuries with the immediate results, but those consequences which followed down through the years, no one had reported."

"A careful effort was made to secure a complete survey of each particular case. Such questions were asked and studies made as would seem to cover all the vital issues of the physical, industrial, economic and social well-being of the injured person and his dependents. The larger purpose of the survey was to find out how extensive and intensive is the need of industrial re-education and what is the possibility of its accomplishment so far as the subjects themselves are concerned."

VICTIMS' REHABILITATION.

Tables are presented in the bulletin showing the various kinds of injuries. Beginning with the physiological results of the injuries, the survey traces the course of the injured through the years of his struggle for rehabilitation. Regarding the matter the bulletin in part says: "Into that struggle came the question of return to employment, of occupation, of wages, of general health, of family welfare, and so on. These classifications are followed by summary studies. But it is frankly admitted that the report, taken together, is a very superficial study of a very important subject."

NEED FOR RE-EDUCATION.

"There are throughout the state approximately 350 compensable and non-compensable injuries occurring each year, of the character in-

In addition, each package of Calo-oxide contains a little plaster that will remove the worst corn in a hurry. Have good feet. Clip this out—adv.

TO RELIEVE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are hard of hearing or have head noises to your distress, get a course of Param (double strength), and add to it a pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take one tablespoon four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises, blocked nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dripping from the throat. It is easy to prepare, taste little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should take this prescription at once.—Advertisement.

This Leaves the Skin Free From Hairy Growths

(Toilet Talks)

A simple method for completely removing every trace of hair or fuzz is here given. This is painless and usually a single treatment will banish even stubborn growths. To remove hairs, make a thick paste with some powdered deodorant and water, spread on hairy surface and after about 2 minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone, but to avoid disappointment, be certain you get deodorant.—Advertisement.

Girl Couldn't Stand Clothes to Touch Her

"My father got me a bottle of May's Wonderful Remedy for stomach trouble and I am feeling so much better since taking it. My stomach was so painful I couldn't stand my clothes to touch me." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. ST. MARY'S WILL GRADUATE THIRTY

Eighteen cities and towns are represented in graduation list of St. Mary's college. The exercises will take place June 18 and 20.

"This shows the wide range of the college, and demonstrates the fact that Oakland is an educational center in a true sense of the word," said Brother Gregory, president of the institution.

The graduates are registered at the college from all over California, many from Nevada, Utah, Hawaii, Scotland and Mexico.

Archbishop Edward J. Hanna has accepted the honor of addressing the college, graduating class. The ceremonies will take place on June 20.

Brother Leo, dean of the English department, will address the academic and commercial department graduation on June 18. Exercises will take place in the alumni gymnasium.

U. S. to Pay for Educating Soldier

Uncle Sam will pay the city of Oakland as the private tutor of Savario Arieto, a returned soldier, now being educated in vocational work at the Vocational High School.

Arieto, after serving in France, returned wounded, and must be taught a trade. He was placed in the Vocational High School by order of the President, the government maintaining him there, as he is still in the service. He will be discharged after he has been made competent to earn a living.

The government will pay for his instruction at the school, according to the per capita basis in the school budget, this to be placed in the vocational school fund.

Adelle Garrison's New REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

"But I cannot have her or any one else cleaning the library again unless there is one of us three there to watch her," Lillian went on. "And Betty would never cease conjecturing if I cleaned it myself. And then there is Mrs. Morton. I must have a nurse for her. That brings another element into the house. Marion's governess needn't be considered. She's only here a few hours, goes directly to a room downstairs. I have fitted up for a schoolroom, never comes upstairs, and is a most fiery little person anyway. I know all about her and her people."

A WAY TO PEACE.

She stopped and looked straight at Katherine. I knew that she must have seen as I had the little start Katherine gave when Lillian mentioned the need of a nurse for Mrs. Morton, the old mother of her first husband, Will Morton, Lillian's father. It was characteristic of Lillian's greatness of heart that she should be making easy the last days of this feeble old invalid, whose son had well nigh blasted Lillian's life and her reputation, dearer to her than her existence, and who until his death had kept from her the little daughter she adored.

I felt my heart beating as if I had been running as I waited for the words I was sure Lillian meant to say to Katherine. For in a moment there had flashed upon me how those words might unfurl the tangled, twisted threads of the misunderstanding between Katherine and Jack.

"Katherine," said Lillian Underwood, slowly, "would you be willing to give up your work in that hospital unit in France to help me in the service here?" Katherine looked at Lillian intently. I saw that her brain also had leaped to the conclusion mine had, and that she realized just what Lillian's offer would mean to her. There were little pin points of light in her wonderful brown eyes. I knew that the girl whose being was a quiver with excitement.

"You know I'm pledged to my work," she answered quietly, but with a hopeful note in her voice that was immediately justified by Lillian's answer. "There is no work in the world except this you're entering from which I could have you released with honor by the highest authority." Lillian's voice had no note of boasting. She was simply stating a fact. Katherine and I both felt it. "Then my answer is 'yes,'" Katherine returned. "You know I love my profession, but there's nothing in the world I would rather do than help you."

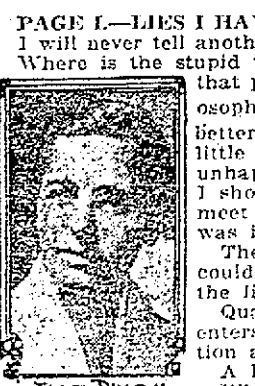

"You'll be able to combine your profession with aiding me for awhile," Lillian returned smiling, and I saw that the worried look had entirely left her eyes. Evidently Katherine's answer had solved the problem that had both of us. "If you'll consent to the arrangement you may ostensibly be old Mrs. Morton's nurse. Fortunately, while she's unable to get out of her room she doesn't by any means require constant or arduous attention, and Betty or even Marion can often sit with her. And I can promise you more important and exciting service after a while. But just now one of the most important things is to guard the secrets of this library and that closet entrance to and from the other house."

6 PAGES from a WIFE'S DIARY

By Jane Dixon

JANE DIXON

PAGE 1.—LIES I HAVE TOLD.
I will never tell another lie.
Where is the stupid who penned that putting his theory about 'tis better to lie a little than to be unhappy much? I should like to meet him—or was it her?

The things I could tell about the little lie! Quantity never enters the equation at all. A lie is a lie. Whether it is a whopper or just a nice polite white one, it is a lie, and it equals unhappiness just as surely as two and two equals four.

Strange how the big moments of life root themselves in trivialities. My decision to try truth, no matter how painful, is big. I am going to try to make it the biggest thing in my life. This is how it happened: I went down town for tea yesterday. Jim, like a few dozen other husbands I might mention, dislikes my taking tea unless it is in one of those poky cross street tea rooms. He dislikes Nita's place because, as he says, her conversation is too vivid and she uses a lip stick. I have never been able to discover which Jim dislikes the most—the vivid conversation or the lip stick. But I have heard Nita outpour him in many an argument. Maybe it is the lip stick.

Anyhow, I went to tea with Nita at a French cafe. And that is not the worst of it—or the best, as it afterward developed. I didn't drink tea at all. I had a cocktail. Had Jim walked in the door as I was slipping it I suppose I would have just naturally passed out of the picture. If there is one thing under the face of the shining sun Jim hates—for me—it is a cocktail. When I do get reckless and sneak one now and then I always carefully conceal it with perfume or something. My motto has been what a husband does not know will never hurt him.

Nita and I were half way through with a rather wicked creamy concoction, called an Alexander, when two friends of hers came in. Of course, she asked them to sit down. One of them was just back from overseas, shrapnelled or something at Chateau Thierry. When I looked at my watch it was past six. Jim, who is getting home before me, it makes him cross all evening.

"Nita," I whispered, "it is after six. What will I tell Jim?" I was sure, being so tremendously clever, she would have an absolutely new alibi for me. What do you think she answered? "Why don't you tell him the truth?"

I know I know. Because when it was all over and I was wondering where I might go to find truth a wee bit easier, what do you think Jim said? "I have found out, but I'm not going to tell you. I will never tell another lie." The diary of a wife. What a dangerous volume it would be—for a husband.

Most wives live two lives, one for themselves and one for their husbands. The first is a gay, careless, selfish, drifting wherein the senses are allowed to run riot and the little weaknesses are indulged to their limit, a sort of a soiled kimono of an existence. The second, for the husband, is a strictly blue stocking life. It admits no lapses. The slightest crack in the silken surface is carefully and skillfully darned in with a white lie. The more lies the more dawns. After a while there is no stocking left, nothing but darns. Then, one day, the wife pulls the wrong thread and the whole crazy patchwork unravels and falls to pieces.

If she is a wise wife, wise enough to have learned that she goes out and suits life over again, this time on a basis of truth. If she is a mollusc with a coward's will to face the world, she begs and pleads and whines and protests and promises until her revolted husband begins looking up sailings for Port Said or other points far East, the farther the better. This failing, she puts on her veil of tears, draws down the corners of her mouth and lets it be known through a battery of intimate instances punctuated generously with sighs, what a beast her husband really was.

Telling the Truth

Says Jane Dixon:
"And here is the beautiful part of telling the truth, even to your husband.
"It makes everything so easy. Problems solve themselves.
"There may be a storm now and then, but afterward the sky clears and the sun shines, which is a whole lot more conducive to happiness than a lowering sky all the time.
"A frequent prayer of a wife:—From the lies we have told our husbands, good luck deliver us.
"Why not change the version:—From the lies we have told our husbands, good sense deliver us?"

I was stunned. Tell my husband I had been to a French cafe with Nita drinking a cocktail, and two men—Then suddenly, as if some one had taken a sharp knife and ripped the drop curtain over the realities of life from top to bottom, revealing the tawdry scenery underneath, the whole play was clear to me.

The truth. What a blessed relief to tell it and let the heavens fall if they must. It sounded so simple the way Nita said it. "Why don't you tell him the truth?" Why not? I felt so happy about my decision to go through that I stayed until half past six. On the way home I threw my phil of perfume out the window and was sure it would weaken just outside the door and gulp it.

Jim was waiting. I afterward learned he had anticipated me by about ten minutes. He was all poured for the usual flimsy fabric about the shops being so crowded and three buses going by before I could get a seat. "Well," he growled, as I walked into the living room. You should have heard the interrogation point after that "well." I was not the least nervous and a whole lot more natural than the time I had told him I'd done some Sarah Bernhardt. I told him exactly what I had done.

There is not the slightest doubt in the world but that he was angry. I know he wanted to strike me. Being Jim he couldn't, but he did explode into the most fearful tirade of language I have ever heard or hope to hear. He said he had been hearing against me for ever so long, dangled his mean little suspicions and his petty jealousies, and rebuked and threatened. It was not exactly a pretty half hour. I should have been heartbroken, but somehow I wasn't. I felt I had been right. I felt clean and free.

I was right. I know I know. Because when it was all over and I was wondering where I might go to find truth a wee bit easier, what do you think Jim said? "I have found out, but I'm not going to tell you. I will never tell another lie." The diary of a wife. What a dangerous volume it would be—for a husband.

Having frequently stated that news is news and must go into the paper whether it suits everybody or not, it now becomes the painful duty of this family journal to chronicle the fact that A. Fleharty, who was born May 27, 1819, on the farm of his father, died on May 27, 1862.

GRILL'S BEDTIME STORY

(By Howard R. Garis.)

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily!" called Baby Bunty one morning to Mr. Longears, the rabbit gentleman. "Please get out your automobile and take me to school in it."

"Oh, no!" So you want to ride to school in my automobile? Well, I suppose I might as well get it out. I'll soon be wanting some rides myself."

So Uncle Wiggily ran his auto out of the woodshed, where he had kept it all winter. He put on a new turnip steering wheel, took a little of Nurse Jane's fresh pepper, to dust on the sausage trim, and then he was ready to give Baby Bunty a ride to the hollow stump school where the lady mouse taught the animal children their A B C lessons.

"Oh, there's Sammie and Susie Little-tail!" Give them a ride in our jiney!" cried Baby Bunty, as she saw the girl and boy rabbits hopping along the woodland path.

"Whoa, there!" called Uncle Wiggily to his auto, to make sure it "hops up, Sammie and Susie," he said. "You may as well ride to school with Baby Bunty."

"I guess Uncle Wiggily's glad to ride me this way, so I won't make him chase me and play tag," spoke the little rabbit girl, moving over on the seat to make room for Sammie and Susie Little-tail.

"Ho, ho! I guess I am!" cried the jolly rabbit gentleman, twinkling his eyes. The light at night on the back of a milk wagon. Then he started off again, and pretty soon the auto was sailing along once more, faster than ever.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! There's Johnnie and Billie Bushytail, the squirrels!" suddenly cried Baby Bunty. "Can't they have a ride to school, too?"

"Oh, yes," said good-natured Uncle Wiggily. "Scramble up, Billie and Johnnie!" And up the two squirrels scrambled like a pair of cats on a log, and they settled down in a seat as happy as could be.

"This is lots more fun than walking to school," shouted Johnnie. "Yes, indeed! Thank you, Uncle Wiggily," said Billie. "Are you going to take us home every night?"

"Oh, yes! I'll get him to do it!" cried Baby Bunty. "He'd rather do that than take me home. I'm sure!" went on the little rabbit girl, who was found in a stump. "Running a jiney to school now and with Uncle Wiggily, is much more fun than limping and limber as playing hop Scotch," she said.

THE GILET GIRL

A GILET—Don't you know what that is? It's a cute vest for the women and is all the rage.

DAZZLING SUMMER FAD

By MARGARET ROHE

If you have a little gilet, Brocade, tulle, or silk. You'll be swaggy, willy nilly. Though what really knocks 'em silly is the girl behind the gilet.

NEW YORK, May 26.—You just must invest in a vest, for your new coat suit will be a total waste without a waistcoat.

A little gilet is a dazzling thing, particularly when it is made out of one of those gorgeous metallic brocade ribbon lengths. Blazing in gold and silver and hectic dyes, it helps the modern maid present a brilliant front to the world, even though the deepest of indigo serge surges all around her.

Indeed, every well regulated and up-to-date coat suit opens up over a gilet and opens up at the same time such endless possibilities of divers and different gilets that it's no wonder all the feminine world is simply gilet mad.

Now that Sister Susie has ceased sewing shirts for soldiers, she is feverishly busy making up endless gilets for herself out of odds and ends in the family scrap bag. For these fascinating little vesties that lend such charm and piquancy to the severest suits are positively evolved out of anything and everything.

Wool and silk jersey, hand embroidered in vivid yarns; broadcloth stitched in silk, or even stenciled in a gold design; linen and pique, masculinely buttoned, plain and close, with pearl, sheer, frilly, feminine affairs of hand tucked, ruffled and lace inserted organdie are but a few of the fifty-seven varieties. There are quaint little changeable talcetta waistcoats that present a double front and show a dainty inset of ivory-toned batiste, lavishly tucked, ruffled and lace trimmed, like a much befuddled shirt front of the long ago male fop. Still others are quilted like the spare room bedspread and others have curious patterns of colored beads in intricate designs. Braiding, too, adds its decorative touch and often a bit of hand painting vies with the similar treatment of the face above the gilet.

It is perfectly obvious that to be the proud possessor of one gilet doesn't at all suffice. The really smart woman owns a whole collection. One for each day in the week. They run the gamut of all the styles and also all her emotions. When she is feeling feminine and sweetly alluring, she dons a soft and frilly vest of organdie; a bit devilish and a striking black and white striped affair of taffeta is her choice; when cold and haughty and severe, one of those plain plaid effects; waist and skirt, a dove gray jersey splashed with beaded trays of steel; or, scintillating, opulent and full of pep, she presents a metallic brocade gilet to the fore. Think what a helpful hint to husbands it would be to possess a gilet key to wife's every mood.

Not only are our suits all vested up. Our one-piece frocks and separate blouses, too, are being done with simulated gilet effects. Capes have gilet fronts and, yes, they have even invaded the realm of the undergarment. When we take off our gilet at night it is only to slip on another in the form of a vest-fronted negligee. The newest chemises and combinations with their distracting pinkness and sheerness, show, among other things, the gilet influence. As these gilets are practically horn to blush unseen, however, it is with the gilet of the suit that we are most concerned. Matching up these ubiquitous waistcoats with hat, parasol and bag has become a favorite sport. So you can plainly see that a suit gilet of a gilet is like a little more of the buckle, and neither omission is permissible this season.

BRAVE AMERICANS

Portraits of Medal Winners, Made in France and Germany, by JOSEPH CUMMINGS CHASE, Official Portrait Painter of the A. E. F.

Corporal Sidney E. Manning, 167th Infantry

Corporal Manning has nine wound and eight pieces of metal still in his body, but that couldn't keep him from marching into Germany with his unit. In action on the morning of July 27, Corporal Manning was in charge of an automobile rifle squad. One corporal was killed and one captured and himself wounded by shell fire. Although wounded, he carried the automatic rifle and ammunition, and continued to advance. On reaching the top of the hill near Croix-Rouge Farm, northeast of Chateau Thierry, he was again wounded by machine gun fire, but he still advanced with his platoon. Reaching the bottom of the hill, the survivors of his platoon now seven men in all—he was forced to consolidate with another platoon of G Company, covering on his right flank. Corporal Manning at the bottom of the hill alone faced the oncoming Germans, covering this consolidation and keeping the enemy from closing in on his platoon. He then retained his platoon with nine wounds. He now wears the Distinguished Service Cross.

MAHOGANY OR IRON, SCHOOL BED DISPUTE

Mahogany bedsteads versus plain iron ones is the burning issue before the Board of Education today. Director Eugene Young and Mrs. Daisy Short will hardly speak to each other and the school principals' committee, which was to have chosen furniture for the new "neighborhood schools" will probably not pick the mahogany bedsteads. They have too expensive tastes. Besides, Emma G. Kane, principal of the Lasear school, has no faith in the aesthetic perception of Young.

This developed last night in the meeting of the Board of Education in a wordy war, when Young registered a protest against the furniture picked for the "demonstration cottages" at the Lasear school.

SAYS SUE INSULTED HIM.
"The principal wanted a bedstead that would cost $28," protested Young. "The regular iron bedsteads cost $16.75, but, Jove, she wanted a mahogany bedstead! What's the use of teaching the children with a lot of luxuries and so forth, if we want those things to be practical? Teach them to make an ordinary bed—one they're used to in their homes—not a mahogany affair you see in the high-priced hotel."

Besides, the principal insulted me at the school. She told me she'd consult my aesthetic judgment regarding a load of sand or a ton of coal, but on nothing higher!"

TAKE MORE INTEREST.

Mrs. Short defended the mahogany, saying that her idea was to let the principals pick the sort of furniture they wanted in the school demonstration cottages, that they might take a more personal interest. "Not by a jugful—what all the principals want is to pick out the most expensive furniture they can lay hands on," said Young. "There's no use teaching the children with frills and high-priced furniture. In real life they won't get as good as our low bid beds!"

Young also suggested that hereafter the manual training classes build the beds. The committee of the whole will decide on this point later.

BOYLE STARTS SOMETHING.

The second flurry of the evening occurred when Director Harry Boyle demanded an explanation of the $118

Child Experts Hold Conference Nation Building Gets Impetus Maternity Problems Considered

The distinguished body of child welfare experts who are touring the United States under the auspices of the Department of Labor through the Children's Bureau, arrived in Berkeley early this afternoon to hold a part of the California conference in Wheeler Hall, University of California. Large numbers of local students and workers joined the delegates at the 3 o'clock mass meeting. Oakland is entertaining the several noted foreign visitors at a dinner this evening at Hotel Oakland, when once again the authorities will present the problems of the child and a trial solution.

A When England learned that the income of its average working class family was not large enough to employ doctors, midwives, nurses or home helpers at maternity, child experts set about establishing a service that was national and free, according to Mrs. Eleanor Barton, representing the $1,658 working class married women in the Women's Cooperative Guild of Great Britain, speaking before the opening session of the international child welfare conference in San Francisco yesterday.

ENGLAND PASSES LAW.
According to the English expert an act requiring that a birth must be reported to the officials within 36 hours, when officials must visit the home and see that the mother and child have necessary medical aid, was passed in 1917. Maternity centers for minor treatments were expense bill of the business manager for trips to Sacramento to urge the passage of the recent bill permitting school building fund transfers.

"The finance committee passed that bill after investigating it," said Young. "And if Director Boyle was not there we can't help it. If every director attended only the single meeting that he got his $10 for there'd be little business done by this board."

"I'm not asking Young's opinion of Boyle," shouted Boyle. "I want to know what this bill was for!"

Dr. J. Loran Pease explained what it was.

"Is it local?" demanded Boyle. "Was it passed at a legal, regular meeting? I don't know anything about this!"

WHITNEY COPY FOR BOYLE.
"It was passed at a regular meeting at which you were not present," said Superintendent Fred Hunter. "As usual," supplemented Director Louis Abernethy.

"If I can't find out about these things from this board I'll find out some other way," said Boyle. "I don't see why the school money should be spent for trips of subordinate employees of this board."

On Young's suggestion the secretary was instructed to furnish Boyle with a written copy of all proceedings in the matter.

The board last night adopted a

HIGHER TAXES PLANNED FOR CITY SCHOOLS

First steps toward a possible higher city tax levied for Oakland schools have been taken by the board of education. Acting on instructions from the school board, Superintendent Fred Hunter today forwarded to the city council a request for information as to whether the council will have power to give the local schools additional funds. The city attorney's office is to render an opinion.

Detailed plans for a systematic development of the school Americanization work have been completed, the general procedure in handling this work having been adopted by the school board as follows:

(a) An Americanization head and a centralized policy in the Oakland schools.

(b) Designation of field of Americanization as a department.

(c) Use of school plants.

(d) Grouping Americanization work.

(e) Americanization districts that may require the time of home teachers.

(f) A natural course in civic education for teachers of Americanization and naturalization.

(g) The use of English in teaching Americanization for foreign born.

(h) Seminary work for teachers of Americanization.

Aliens employed in the Moore shipyards have already been canvassed and arrangements have been made to prepare them for citizenship applications.

The Technical high school barracks were ordered named "Fishing Hall" at last night's meeting of the school board, and plans were outlined for a model kindergarten, to be established out of next year's school funds if sufficient can be raised.

'Spoil Baby Face' Is Threat in Divorce

Mrs. Elsie May Wicks obtained a decree of divorce last night from Harry M. Wicks, machinist and social reformer, on her testimony of cruel conduct. She said he often threatened to "spoil her baby face" by throwing vinegar upon her, and that he bought a bottle of the liquid, she said he has been insanely jealous and that he has often accused her falsely of unfaithfulness.

Skyline Boulevard Ranks Third in World

The Skyline boulevard, running along Oakland's hills, is the third most wonderful drive in the world. So says Buedecker, the international guide for travelers. The new Buedecker travel guide could place a drive in Italy as the first scenic drive in the world, one in the Alps as the second, and the Skyline boulevard as the third.

Labor Leader of England Arrives

NEW YORK, May 27.—J. H. Thomas, British labor leader, has arrived in the United States, reaching here yesterday aboard a trans-Atlantic liner. He is here to observe the efforts in the United States to be observed by him.

program for school Americanization work for next year and handled other routine business.

'DESERTERS' ARE TRAILED; FORGET WOODEN LEGS

SAN FRANCISCO, May 27.—Because of a slight irregularity in the records of a San Francisco draft board, the Government paid two of its sleuths for trailing and capturing two "deserters" from the army. On their arrival at the Western Department army office yesterday, it was discovered that both of them had wooden legs.

The mistake was made because the draft records did not indicate that the registrants lacked a dental part of their body. The two "deserters" had moved from their registered addresses and made no effort to keep in touch with their draft boards as men of this class are relieved of that responsibility.

Auditorium Lawn Work to Be Finished

Work on the municipal auditorium lawn, held up temporarily because of lack of funds, will be completed in July, according to plans made in Park Superintendent Lee Kerfoot. A part of the lawn has been placed on the grounds. As soon as the new funds are available July 1 the rest of the sod will be placed on the grounds and temporary lawns planted.

Work is progressing on the four branch library lawns being planted and developed under the direction of the park board.

DR. KNOWLES TO SPEAK

Dr. Tully C. Knowles, president of the College of the Pacific, will give his lecture on "Bolshevism" at the Twenty-fourth Avenue Methodist church, Twenty-fourth avenue and East Fifteenth street, at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening. All seats will be free.

RICH CHINESE ARE ARRESTED IN OPIUM RAID

One woman and two wealthy Chinese men were arrested last night at 349 Tenth street when the place was raided by operatives of the State Board of Pharmacy, under the direction of Angel Pavatt.

The operatives found the trio in a small dingy smoking room which was guarded by six heavy doors. These were smashed down before entrance could be gained. Three pipes and a quantity of smoking opium and cocaine were confiscated and used as evidence when the three were brought up in Police Judge Samuels' court today.

At the city jail last night they were booked on the charge of violating the state poison law and held on $200 bail each. Immediately Ah Boon, the forty-four-year-old Chinese woman arrested with the two men, arranged to have the necessary $600 but put up The two men were Ah Sue and Hew Lee. Both said they were cooks. Ah Boon, the woman, is listed on the jail records as a housewife, but according to the officers of the State Board of Pharmacy the trio are wealthy and influential property owners.

The raid last night had been planned for several weeks.

SHERIFF IS BAIT FOR TROUT; GETS THE FISH, TOO!

SAN RAPHAEL, May 27.—There are many ways to catch the elusive trout. Sheriff J. J. Keating discovered a new method yesterday while fishing in the Gualala river in Sonoma county.

He used thirteen different kinds of bait in an endeavor to deceive a monster steelhead, imprisoned in an isolated pool. Almost hopeless, and as a last resort, the sheriff baited with a small lizard. The trout snapped the hook and raced around the pool. Keating was in a state of unpreparedness, with the line entangled with his fishing gear and the surrounding bushes. In his efforts to extricate himself he lost his balance and plunged headlong into the water. Keating weighs somewhat less than 200 pounds. He crowded the water and the trout on to the dry land and then unhooked the fish.

HEAD IS CRUSHED IN GIANT SHEARS

VALLEJO, May 27.—C. A. Roberts, sheet metal worker employed at Mare Island, was killed at the station Sheet Metal Shop Monday afternoon. According to the report of the safety engineer, Roberts was adjusting metal on the big shears in the shop and while doing so placed his head in the machine. His helper in some unaccountable manner stepped on the pedal that set the machinery in operation, and before he could stop the motor or pull Roberts away the head of the mechanic was crushed. He died at the hospital.

Roberts was unmarried and had made his home here since coming from Santa Rosa, where his parents and a brother reside at 720 Benton street. He was 25 years of age.

COAST LEAGUE HITTERS MUST SALUTE DENNY WILIE OF OAKS

MISSION LEAGUE WILL REORGANIZE IF PERMISSION IS GIVEN TO USE P. C. L. GROUNDS

Teams Ready If Park Can Be Secured

Prexy Fred Krumb Is Still Trying to Get League Going.

Fred Krumb, president of the Mission or Mission Near League, returned to his home last night after presiding at a meeting of baseball managers, feeling sure that there will be a Mission League of six clubs this season. Last night's meeting was the fourth that Krumb called this season in hope of getting the Mission League started. The Kimball Electric will today try to close a deal for the use of the Oakland Coast League Park.

The teams that were voted on last night to make up the Mission League should get started by the first of June. The Oakland Coast League Park, owned by the Oakland Coast League, is located at the corner of 14th and Broadway streets, between 14th and 15th streets, and between Broadway and 16th streets. The Kimball boys are sure they will get the Coast League park, but this morning, Manager Duane, manager of the Oakland Coast League, has a statement that he did not think he would put his team in the league after all. Bill Osgood, manager of the Oakland Coast League, has thrown a scare into Manager Duane by saying that the Oakland Coast League Park is not for sale, but that it is for lease. The managers are all praying for Krumb to get the league going, and it is expected that it will be up and running before anything else that the teams will be entered. Fred is sure making a great hit with the boys and he hopes that he succeeds in his work.

LEE WAYMIRE TO CAPTAIN C. L. BEST TRACTOR TEAM.

Bill Wagner and Tony Enos, managers of the C. L. Best Tractors, have announced the appointment of Lee Waymire as captain. The C. L. Best Tractors team of San Leandro. About a month ago Lee joined that team, and right from the jump he hit it off in right with the players and fans of San Leandro. But while Waymire is to be field captain, it does not mean that he is losing any of his popularity with the cherry town people. It was partly on the suggestion of Schmitt that Waymire was elected captain. Lee is a San Francisco boy, and first played his way into favor of the East Bay fans as a member of the San Francisco Shipbuilders' team in the Shipbuilders' league, and also as captain of the Timekeepers who were the big hit of the last Madison Square League. Lee, besides being a gentleman on the diamond, is one grand player. He will hold down the second sack for the Tractors.

The Tractors are looking for a good young first-sacker, and as soon as he is landed the team will be complete. Waymire has promised to land one from San Francisco for the San Leandro manager. Next Sunday, the Tractors play the Oakland Coast League at San Leandro in the second game of the series.

"The Flirt" Winner of the Motor-Boat Race at Vallejo

VALLEJO, May 27.—Al Kelsch's speedster, the "Flirt," won the motor-boat race held by the Vallejo club over the six mile channel course, Sunday morning, in 51 minutes and 39 seconds. The course was laid out from the yacht club to the spar buoy twice around, finishing up at the club moorings. Plovman's craft, the Jack, came in second in 55 minutes and 33 seconds.

The other boats finished in the following order: Assistant Naval Constructor Bism's Margaret E. Frier's Toots, Greenwell's Anita, Bassford's Keweenaw and Zaleski's Caz II. The race was closely contested and was witnessed by several hundred enthusiastic spectators. Plovman's craft, the Jack, was the fastest, followed by the "Flirt," which was hung up for the motorboat event.

FRANKIE BURNS WILL MEET HIS FORMER PUPIL WHEN HE BOXES JIMMY DUFFY ON 4th

Battling Ortega and Frankie Denny on Edge For Their Battle Tomorrow Night

By BOB SHAND.

If Joe Benjamin makes the right kind of a showing against Young France at Dreamland rink, San Francisco, tonight he will be given the honor of being Frankie Burns' opponent at the local auditorium June 11. Burns is in training after serving four-the reputation that Ortega has, but Frankie has never yet entered the ring without giving the cash customers a run for their money. No matter what the odds may be or the reputation of his opponent, Frankie tears in and delivers the best he has. Sometimes he loses and sometimes he wins, but the main thing is that he is in there trying all the time and there is always a chance of one of his well-known haymakers connecting with a vital spot.

Ortega seems to have lost his old popularity and through no fault of his own. The customers blamed the matchmaker for feeding the Battler a pair of well-up in Salinas Jack Robinson and Joe Coughlin. We're teen months in France, and he has told Promoter Tommy Simpson to pick out any opponent he thinks will draw. Simpson has several boys in mind and Benjamin is just one of them. Should the France boy whip Benjamin tonight Joe would automatically be dropped from consideration, and after the way he fought last week France is not going to be beaten by many lightweights around these parts.

here to say that it did look bad and that neither figured to whip the tough Mexican middleweight, but it wasn't Ortega's fault and it wasn't Simpson's fault that the fight was unsatisfactory. Robinson could have put up a much better fight but he decided to stall and such the four rounds, and Coughlin was the only available opponent for Ortega when Tillie Herman had to call off the fight on account of the death of his father. But some of the fans did not take these things into consideration and there is an element in local fandom that wants to see Ortega licked.

That's why Denny is going to have a big following when he squares off with Ortega tomorrow night. Frankie was always a popular boxer on this side of the bay and the fact that he is taking a chance with a tough nut like Ortega has gained him many new friends. Then the anti-Ortega forces will string with Frankie and root hard for him to shoot in the four rounds, and whether the cool reception that will be accorded him will make any difference in Ortega's fighting remains to be seen. The Battler might get nervous about something in the first round, you never can tell.

Jimmy Duffey is going to tangle with Jimmy Ford for the "Jimmie" championship in a special event tomorrow night.

Bill Johnston To Keep After Tennis Title

Former Single and Double Champ Shows Class at Del Monte.

DEL MONTE, May 27.—The appearance of Bill Johnston, former national tennis champion, in the tennis matches at Del Monte last week-end gave the court followers an opportunity to observe that the slender fellow must still be considered as a player of the first water. Johnston has been away from the sport for almost two years, but practically little or no opportunity to play, while he was a lieutenant in the Navy, and there were some misgivings as to his ability to reach top form again.

Before a large and enthusiastic audience on Saturday and Sunday Johnston teamed with the veteran Carl Gardner and played four sets which proved that he requires only practice to make him the sensation of the courts. Bill hardly in the best of condition, but he figures that steady play from now until the time which he will put him in tip-top form. The Kinsey brothers, the young San Francisco team, gave them more experience and famous opponents a taste in each of the matches, making Johnston bring into play many of his famous strokes.

It was here at Del Monte that Johnston first butted into fame in the Pacific coast and California state championship tournaments, and he was thoroughly at home on the local courts.

Big League Gossip

Phil Douglas, the big right-hander, limited the Braves to a single hit, missing a no-hit bid, but he was thoroughly through a single by Ray Fowler.

Again the Yanks showed Jack Quinn their speed. They scored the runs less than the Browns, although they got more than twice as many hits.

Five in a row was too much for the Tigers. They succumbed to the Athletics, 8 to 3.

Many sport writers liked the Browns for a clear berth, but their victory over the Athletics, 10 to 1, gives them ten out of the last eleven games.

Rube Benton continued to be a celebrated character by defeating the Pirates, 10 to 1, adding him to a four to three victory.

Pat Moran had a "dum" in Philadelphia yesterday and his Reds celebrated it by mauling the Phillies, 7 to 3.

Three successive passes by Conner was the deciding factor in the Giant victory over the Pirates.

Five twirlers visited circuit clowns, the wallowing quartette including McGowan, the Giants, Zack Wheat of the Dodgers, Al Simmons of the Athletics, and both of the Athletics.

The Dodgers waited until the eighth inning, when they cut loose with a home run, a double and two singles, and won the game with the Caribs.

Kalish' generosity by way of a wild pitch led to the Athletics' victory in the Tigers' winning streak.

and if the fans do not get some action here we will miss one guess. Dundee has not been boxing much recently, but Jimmy is in condition and will make a good fight.

The San Francisco "Allies" are holding their show tonight instead of Friday. They have the veteran heavyweight Frank Farmer lined up with K. O. Kravosky for the main event. This should be a walk-over for the K. O. goldenrod, but he has long ago passed his prime. About a pair of years ago some smart bird brought a "mashed mallet" to San Francisco and offered to bet stage money that he could whip any heavyweight in the country. Douglas Erskine and some of the boys inveigled one fine afternoon and some dub heavyweight tore his head off. The mask came off and the classic features of Frank Farmer. That was the Northwest boys' first and last appearance in these parts.

Louie Parente, who has been losing gobs of kale staging shows at the Coliseum across the bay, will take another chance tonight with Johnny Ray vs. Earl Baird as his main event. Billy Shade and Steve Dalton will hook up in the special. Dalton and George Shade boxed seven times and Steve has switched to Brother Bill.

Eddie Plinkham has been barred by the Vernon promoters following his unsatisfactory fight with Steve Brodie the other night.

Freddie Manning, the local one-legged athlete, who was the school children's Pentathlon at the exposition, is out with a challenge to box any one-legged boxer in the world. Some fellow across the bay who is shy a leg has been challenging him and the world and Freddie is willing to take a chance.

Island City Court Champs Win Tourney

San Jose Tennis Players Defeated by Alameda Athletes.

Some of the best players of Santa Clara valley representing Naglee Park Tennis Club of San Jose were guests of the Island City Tennis Club at Alameda Sunday, and came very nearly taking a majority of the matches. The local players, however, displayed their skill and tenacity when in tight corners and won several matches that a single point for the visitors would have meant defeat.

The evening presented a gloomy outlook early in the day when the score looked 3 to 0 in favor of San Jose and once the champions had been vanquished, the next dozen racket wielders came on smothering and turned defeat into victory for the Island City Club.

In singles the scores were: A. H. Hubbard, Naglee Park, defeated H. Jordan, Island City, 1-6, 7-5, 6-1. Roy Harris, Naglee Park, defeated C. J. Crook, Island City, 6-3, 6-1, 6-1. H. Hubbard, Naglee Park, defeated J. H. G. Harper, Island City, 6-3, 6-1, 6-1. Roy Harris, Naglee Park, defeated C. J. Crook, Island City, 6-3, 6-1, 6-1. H. Hubbard, Naglee Park, defeated J. H. G. A luncheon was served under spreading the wings of the local players and a good time was enjoyed by all.

OAKLAND BOYS INCLUDED IN CHALLENGE

Having put out the Police Department team the Alameda Firemen challenged the world to do the battle on the diamond. The late lamented Mr. Alexander, the fire laddies are seeking new worlds to conquer and they have set their sights on the Oakland police department as any other aggregation.

OAKLAND REGULARS INCREASE THEIR BATTING AVERAGES AT EXPENSE OF BEE CURVOLOGISTS

Billy Lane Not Hitting to Form but Little Fellow Crossing Plate With Regularity

By EDDIE MURPHY

The trip to Salt Lake proved beneficial to the batting averages of Del Howard's Oaks, practically every regular playing boosting his percentage. Someone has handed the palm to Marty McGaffigan, the Sacramento infielder, as the leading batter in the Pacific Coast League, but this is a sad mistake, as Denny Willie is the best hitter. McGaffigan has played in fourteen games and is hitting at .331 clip, while Denny Willie has taken part in forty-five games and is hitting .280, or one point less than McGaffigan? Does it look fair to slip the credit to McGaffigan? I'll say it does not. Willie is the best hitter in the Coast League, and he may remain so for the next couple of weeks, as Dobby Meusel, the next best batter, is eleven points behind Denny. Brick Eldred, the Sacramento outfielder, who won by one point behind Willie last week, has slumped to fourth place by losing eight points in his batting against Vernon pitchers. Bobby Meusel increased his average ten points and is now in second place, while Wahoo Sam Crawford has gotten out of his slump and jumped from .248 to .265 to grab third place.

Earl Sheely had a great week at Salt Lake and jumped nineteen points to step into first place, and it was not long before Hack Miller, the Oak outfielder, is right up with the leader. Hack only improved his standing twenty-four points at the expense of the Salt Lake pitchers, and is now hitting .336. Pop Arlett and Rod Murphy are the other Oaks that played regularly at Salt Lake last week and who are found in the .300 class, Arlett gaining six points, while Murphy just got enough hits to work his way in with the .300 men.

Bill Stumpf and Sammy Bohne, the two Oak infielders, have hit their stride. Bohne is now hitting .263, just twenty-nine points better than he was when the averages were last printed. But Bill Stumpf is the bird that deserves watching. All that Bill did last week was to add thirty-six points to his average. Billy Lane and Honus Mitze refused to let their team-mates hit it all at Salt Lake, so they added considerably to their last averages.

Lane is batting .247, which is termed as weak for an outfielder, but the little fellow is more than showing his value to the club. Billy has crossed the plate with thirty-six runs for the Oaks, which is only two less than Mark Haggert, the leading run-maker, has to his credit. Justin Fitzgerald of the Seals and Earl Sheely of the Salt Lake club are tied for second place in run-making with thirty-seven each.

Phil Koerner is the best slugger among the Seals. The two weeks previous to the last Phil dropped, but the first sacker seems to have gained his eye again, as he hit off but one point last week and is now hitting .332. Justin Fitzgerald, second of the Seal hitters, will have to take a long time if he wants to stick in the select circle. Fitz dropped from .340 to .310 in last week's series.

Brick Eldred of Sacramento is tied with Billy Lane in run scoring. Brick has also scored thirty-six times.

Babe Pinelli continues to be the best base swifter. Babe has beat the catcher's throws 22 times, while Fournier of the Angels has done the trick 17. Fitzgerald has stolen 16 bags.

Roxey Middleton was too busy last week driving out base hits to waste time in sacrificing, so Roy Corcoran of the Seals is still leading in that department. He has hit 11 home runs, while Middleton, who is second, has 14, the same mark as last week.

If Earl Sheely can continue his present clip of home run hitting, he is likely to break the world's record. The season is less than one-third old and Sheely has hit ten homers.

Back Miller busted six baggers at Salt Lake last week and is now leading the league in half-circuit swats with 17. Art Griggs was leading in that department last week, but Art only got three against the Vernon pitchers, and now has 15. Sammy Bohne is right behind Griggs with 13.

Fournier has hit nine triples, while Crawford and Schick have hit six apiece, and Miller and Rumlir five each. The averages to date follow:

McAusel, Ver.	33	141	22	52	9	4	1	3	5	.369	.359

PROSPERITY SHOWN BY BIG DEMAND

San Francisco Exchange

Oil - Mining

Portland Made Permanent Dairy Exhibit Center

NEW YORK, May 27.—Buying of motors, steels and equipments on a large scale was resumed at the opening of today's stock market, early gains extending from one to three points. There was a better demand for shipbuilding, but the market was comparatively dull, except for the further strength in Atchafalpa and Southern Pacific, the latter showing special activity. Victory 4 1/2 per cent bonds were sold at 100 1/2, the first time initial transactions consisting of three lots of $100,000, $100,000 and $20,000, all at 100 1/2.

FOREIGN.—Trading during the morning approximated yesterday's high record, the first hour's turnover aggregating 500,000 shares. Rails as a whole displayed a stronger tone, also shipping, but otherwise heavy realizing produced moderate irregularity. The States Street market 1 1/2 points was coincident with forecasts of earnings for the current quarter. Motors and oil continued their gains and international paper and food shares were prominent specialties. Larger lots of foreign exchange were changed hands between 95 1/2 and 95 3/8.

AFTERNOON.—Impairment was greater among motors and kindred issues where reactions followed the closing of points in the afternoon. Railroads quickly ensued, however, and traction and shares developed sudden strength.

CLOSING.—Southern Pacific, United States Rubber and Tobacco were the most active. Southern Pacific, 4 1/2 per cent bonds, closing bid 4 1/2, offered at 4 1/2 last loan 4 1/2, per cent.

Mexican dollars, 30c.

LIBERTY BOND PRICES.

NEW YORK, May 27.—Liberty bond prices were sold at 100 1/2, the first time initial transactions consisting of three lots of $100,000, $100,000 and $20,000, all at 100 1/2.

Unprecedented prosperity is sweeping over Central California, if the demand for labor on every description made to the local State Employment Bureau is any criterion. During this month 3156 men and women have been placed in positions paying from $2.75 a day with board, to $6 a day with room and board. The demand for labor is so great that at the end of the day 73 jobs for men and 222 jobs for women were still vacant.

"At the present time," said Mrs. Helen Power, manager of the bureau, "there is a scarcity of jobs, but there is a scarcity of people to fill them. The work offered varies from agricultural labor at $2.75 and $3 a day with board to skilled labor in the shipyards at $9.00 a day. The demand for labor shows no signs of diminishing."

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, May 27.—Fresh arrivals took place in the corn market today, and the rice carried May 27, 1919. The market was quiet, with a few scattered orders for the high-grade supplies was the chief reason apparent. Opening prices, which ranged from 1 1/2 to 1 3/4, were followed by a slight reaction, and then by an all round uptick, which in some cases surpassed the initial top figures.

Subsequently further gains were scored with important crops in the foreground. The market closed firm, 1/2 to 3/4 net higher, with July 1919-1920, and September 1919-1920, and October 1919-1920, and November 1919-1920, and December 1919-1920, and January 1920-1921, and February MRS. STOCKER MATCHES WITS WITH LAWYER

LOS ANGELES, May 27.—Mrs. Stella Snyder, divorced wife of Albert E. Snyder of San Francisco, continued her version of the business and other affairs of Mrs. Clara Baldwin Stocker, in court today.

Mrs. Snyder was called as a witness at last night's session of Snyder's petition to have his mother, Mrs. Stocker, declared incompetent, after Mrs. Stocker had concluded her evidence in a burst of repartee and after Snyder had given brief testimony.

Snyder's testimony had one startling feature. He admitted he had entered into a contract with Harry Arnold of Los Angeles whereby he agreed to pay Arnold a sum said to be $150,000 if Arnold would see to it that Mrs. Stocker favored Snyder in her will.

"On one occasion on a trip we stopped at a San Bernardino hotel. She shouted out of the window to the saloon across the street to have highballs sent up to her. She ordered a dinner and then swept it off the tray with her hand when it came."

"SAYS SHE DRANK." "Mrs. Stocker was intoxicated every day after the death of Mr. Baldwin, her father."

"What did Mrs. Stocker drink?" "Bourbon whisky highballs," was the answer.

Mrs. Snyder said that when she, Mrs. Stocker and McGinley were dining in the Los Angeles restaurant in 1915, McGinley told Mrs. Stocker he had carried her photograph "next his heart" for twenty-five years.

"McGinley told her," the witness said, "she looked at him when the picture was taken."

"Is Mrs. Stocker susceptible to flattery?" asked Edwards.

"Very much so," was the reply. The witness then described a number of occasions when she said McGinley had spoken to Mrs. Stocker in money matters, frequently when also said Mrs. Stocker was careless in money matters, frequently when shopping, paying for small purchases with bills of large denominations and forgetting to wait for change.

McGinley was pictured by Mrs. Snyder as an artful flatterer.

Mrs. Snyder worked his wiles, Mrs. Snyder claimed, not without success, on Mrs. Stocker.

Captain John D. Fredericks, attorney for Mrs. Stocker, sought to stiffen the picture with the statement that McGinley had transformed Mrs. Stocker from a "hard drinker" to a "moderate user of intoxicants."

On one occasion in an Ocean Park cafe, Mrs. Snyder said, McGinley placed his arm around Mrs. Stocker and said:

"Clara, you look as youthful as you did twenty years ago." But, Mrs. Snyder said, McGinley winked as he said it.

McGinley often reminded Mrs. Stocker of the "good times we used to have" and called her his "old sweetheart," Mrs. Snyder said. She added McGinley never worried over her presence as a third member of the party.

"He seemed to think I was a good fellow," she explained. But she added she was always a bit suspicious of McGinley.

"McGinley once said to me," Mrs. Snyder testified, "you stick to me and you'll be all right."

She said she immediately had a talk with Mrs. Stocker and advised her to "drop him."

Mrs. Snyder's testimony was cut short to permit Snyder, plaintiff in the action, to resume the stand.

He was questioned closely as to whether he had not caused Maude Smith, a friend, to take Mrs. Stocker a quart of whisky while she was staying at Venice, the alleged plan being to have Mrs. Stocker sign certain papers while intoxicated.

Snyder stoutly denied it.

"Why did you bring this suit against your mother?" Mrs. Stocker's attorneys asked.

"I have no interest in this case for myself," Snyder replied. "My sole interest is to protect my mother from McGinley and to obtain for her the money McGinley has taken from her."

Then in order to protect your mother's money you have been willing to slaughter your mother's reputation?" was the next question.

"The thing that has been brought in this suit are no worse than the rumors preceding it," was the reply.

Under close examination, Snyder admitted his attorneys are financing the suit and that he had assigned to his lawyers an unnamed interest in whatever he might win.

Pay Phone Bills Under Protest Legal Course Suggested by Hagan

All persons opposed to the increase in telephone rates ordered by Postmaster-General Burleson are requested to fill out the coupon published herewith, and see that it reaches the telephone company with a check or cash when the bill is paid. The State Railroad Commission has opposed the raise and the question now is before the Federal courts. City Attorney H. L. Hagan suggests that all persons write "protested" on the bills they pay. It is believed that if the charges are held illegal refunds will be directed.

Social Agency Work is Expanding Oakland Receives Eastern Reports

How Cincinnati, Ohio, sets about conserving the public health, Florence Brown of the Board of Education of the city of Cincinnati, Ohio, as the first fruit of her eastern tour of investigation of social agencies, health department and educational work, is reported in a report she has just sent home.

Especially of interest here, because of the movement for a health center, is her statement of the aims and methods of the "Council of Social Agencies." What the National Social Agency has achieved in Cincinnati is told at some length. Miss Brown making a special point of the fact that, under this system, needy persons are visited by their own neighbors rather than by outsiders.

Miss Brown is making a tour of the Middle West and East in an effort to derive data of value here. She expects to send in reports from various other cities. In this one about Cincinnati she writes in part:

"Cincinnati has an excellent health department under the direction of Dr. William H. Peters, with no political connection, but with the control of a municipal board of health, composed of most representative citizens, appointed by the mayor for a term of ten years. Two vacancies occur annually. In this department to this department are made entirely by civil service, physicians devoting full time to their work. The annual budget for this department is $12,784."

"A variety of health work is included here. Bureau of industrial hygiene, child welfare, inspection of pure food and drugs, department of preventive medicine (non-punitive), public health and nursing, but performing all forms of public health nursing, such as pre-natal care of children, tuberculosis and supervision of day nurseries (nine or ten in the city)."

"Medical inspection of schools is performed entirely by the board of health, under the supervision of an assistant, Dr. Craven, with a number of young physicians devoting full time to school work. Under this control, five most modern equipped dental clinics are operated, with a supervisor devoting full time to overseeing dental clinic, also a supervisor for dental supplies and records."

"Oakland citizens who complain at the cost of our schools would open their eyes in amazement at the magnificence of the structure and cost of Cincinnati schools, also the expense of the supervisory staff. Ten dentists are employed for dental work of school children."

"Another remarkable line of work attracting attention of educators throughout the land, is the excellent work done by the 'conservation of vision classes,' where partially blind children are educated in the same school with normal children. In one year eleven partially blind children were returned to the normal classes."

"Many schools are equipped with the best type of showers and large swimming pools, where swimming is part of the curriculum. Five modern equipped open-air schools are maintained under the supervision of the health department. Here little weak children with tuberculous tendencies sit in the open all the year around, clothed during the cold season in a fitting uniform of heavy wool, including warm high boots and sweaters. A brood and nourishing refreshments are served to these children every few hours. In nine of the public schools child welfare and health stations are operated."

"SOCIAL AGENCIES." "Visitors interested in social welfare work are greatly attracted by Cincinnati's council of social agencies, quite similar in effort to our attempt to co-ordinate our social agencies in our recent health center, which, however, should become but one of the functions in a larger and more complete group called by a more comprehensive name, such as council of social agencies, or association for community organization. In this council, eighty-six agencies, performing health or social service work, have joined with eleven civic or commercial bodies—such as health department, Chamber of Commerce, Rotary clubs, etc., for the purpose of building standards in living, health and citizenship, and eliminating adverse conditions which tend to cause delinquency, dependency and defectiveness."

"Secretaries trained for this work are commanding adequate salaries. Louisville and Cincinnati are both paying a $5,000 annual salary to their executive secretaries. Detroit took from Cincinnati last year its executive secretary, offering him $7,500. (Again Oaklanders who complain because we were paying a most efficient superintendent of schools the same salary may now take notice that this same salary is considered rather insufficient for a trained secretary of social work.)"

"SOCIAL UNIT WORK." "An experiment in neighborhood community work is the interesting movement first inaugurated by the National Social Unit Society by Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Phillips, who formerly worked in the milk stations of New York. A district covering thirty-one blocks, called the Mohawk-Brighton district, somewhat foreign in its population, has been chosen as the field for this community experiment. Each block elects its own block representative, sometimes called the 'block mother.' These representatives constitute a 'people's council' and after close affiliation with a body of experts, consisting of doctors, dentists, public health nurses, librarians, teachers, social service workers and clergymen from whom they have gained accurate knowledge, they go from house to house in their block, disseminating this knowledge. When necessary they direct the people of the neighborhood to the social service house (a building of three stories devoted entirely to this work), sometimes to clinics, sometimes to welfare meetings, and often to educational gatherings. A strong point in favor of this method is that the work is carried to the neighborhood by one of the people of their own kind, rather than by a worker in a higher class of society."

"During the influenza epidemic the death rate in the social unit district was two and one-half times less than other districts of the community."

"Industrial plants have been introducing medical and welfare departments in their institutions."

PEACE-TIME STATE ARMY TO BE LARGE

Tentative war department plans for the peace-time national guard include a return to the pre-war organization comprising sixteen divisions. It was stated authoritatively today. Unless unexpected changes occur this plan outlined will be submitted to Congress for its approval with a request for an appropriation sufficient to carry out the plans.

New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois will have complete divisions under the plan authorized by the War Department. Other states third the authorized to maintain divisions.

50 PER CENT YEAR GAIN. The first year organization would include 100,000 men—200 for each Senator and Representative. This is in accordance with the War act, as are the proposed 50 per cent yearly increases for the four succeeding years—so that the second year there will be 300 guardsmen per congressman, the third year 450, the fourth 675 and the fifth 800.

For the first year the divisions will be organized on a basis of 7830 men to a division, with the fourth to be 24 coast artillery companies. New York's share of these will bring her total guardsmen to 3500 the first year.

TO BE ENLARGED LATER. In the proposed divisional organization there are expected to be one artillery and three infantry regiments in each division, with the fourth to be formed later. War department officials desire principally to assure strong organization so that units can be filled up later.

Twenty-five states, Hawaii and the District of Columbia, so far have been authorized to organize national guard units. They include California, Idaho, Oregon, Utah, Hawaii, Montana and Washington.

Grocers Urge Closing on Memorial Day

By a unanimous vote the Alameda County Retail Grocers' Association has gone on record in favor of closing all stores in the county for the entire day Friday, Memorial Day.

The grocers express the belief that in this way the people will have a better opportunity to honor the memory of those who have their lives in the cause of democracy.

WILL MANAGE 'TAHOE TAVERN.' E. A. Watson, assistant manager of the Huntington hotel at Pasadena, accompanied by his wife and child, is expected to leave tonight for Lake Tahoe, where he will assume the management of the Tahoe Tavern for the summer season.

West Oakland Home Funds Increased and Enjoyable Program Presented.

The friends of the West Oakland Home enjoyed a jolly party and at the same time added to the funds of the institution when they filled the Fulton playhouse last night to witness the presentation of "The Walk-offs" by Nana Bryant and her associates.

The board of managers had bought out the house and sold the seats at their own price in aid of the charity in which they are interested.

A short program was presented between acts by the sponsors of the affair, including the recitative and aria, "With Verdure Clad" from Haydn's "Creation" and Foundry's "Chorus Novissima" by Mrs. Katherine Coolidge, coloratura soprano, and a song entitled "Kisses," a 6-year-old Mary Ann Allen, a dainty miss who has won considerable distinction already as a vocalist.

Mrs. Maybel Sherburne West was the accompanist.

The board of managers, the members of which worked for the success of the event, consists of Mrs. O. F. Olsen, chairman; Mrs. Olive Fanning, Mrs. Bruce Maiden, Mrs. George Hall, Mrs. W. H. Foster, Mrs. W. E. Pies, Mrs. Lolo Clark, Mrs. Walter Broder, Mrs. H. L. Anderson, Mrs. Chester Newell, Mrs. A. S. Pacheco, Mrs. W. H. Stow, Mrs. R. S. Thompson.

'JULY THIRST' PELICAN ISSUE HAS HANGOVER

BERKELEY, May 27.—Creating a furor among students and faculty alike is the championing of the cause of the "pelican" and for a daring poem which has aroused Oriental students, the Pelican, University of California comic monthly, winged its last flight on the campus today in a "hang-over" number published a protest against coming national prohibition.

"In honor of the thirst of July" reads the inscription on the cover, which shows a fair college dame reclining in a "drowsy" state, covered by a supine last-minute celebration on June 30. Her head swathed in towels, the co-ed's eyes roll mournfully toward visions of pink elephants grazing in lavender fields.

Witter Bynner, member of the faculty, contributes a poem entitled "Chinese Vermillion." The first verse follows:

"Chinese vermilion on an ivory vase,
A little open line, like a caress
Laid on the incense-rim of loveliness,
So vivid are the lips upon your face:
As if imprinted there with ancient grace

And subtle Oriental passionate stress
By a cued artist who, in love, did press
Chinese vermilion on an ivory vase."

In cartoon, verse and prose, do student editors denounce the fact of a dry nation after July 1.

"Many a wit will be found next year a witless bore at the fourth jolly good fellow will stay at home and be mean to his wife through an unbecoming evening," writes George Atherton Jr., editor of the comic sheet.

Co-eds share honors with the "drys" in the flings taken by the campus writers.

In a poem, "Why the Campanile Clock Has Hands," Wheaton Brewer makes the following explanation:

"Well, they're wearing their new sweaters
And their skirts of subtle dyes;
There are colors on the campus
That shame the sunset skies.

And the Campanile, standing
In its sheer and naked grace Gives the girls the old once over and Puts its hands before its face."

'I Didn't Know It Was Loaded'; Boy Shot

John Sullivan, ten years old, living at 514 Thirtieth street, was shot through the right hand late yesterday by Richard De Lancy, 567 Thirtieth street.

The boys, with Gene Brady, 528 Thirtieth street, were playing with a rifle in De Lancy's back yard and had been firing a number of blank cartridges when by some mistake the ball cartridge was slipped into the gun.

"I didn't know it was loaded," said De Lancy. No arrests will be made, as the shooting is considered purely accidental.

Memorial Service on Goat Island Planned

Special Memorial day exercises will be held at Terba Buena island Friday morning at 9 o'clock to commemorate the officers and men of the navy, marines and coast guard services who sacrificed their lives in the war for the cause of humanity. The immediate relatives of all these men are specially invited to attend the services. A special boat will leave pier 14, San Francisco, at 8:30 a. m., returning from the island at the completion of the ceremonies.

Grim Wager Won With Old Jack's Defeat

SAN FRANCISCO, May 27.—"Old Jack, the Grappler," and "Dummy" Sparks, waterfront characters, both pride themselves on their skill as grapplers. So when the police launch failed to find the body of John Adey after a three-day search, Old Jack and "Dummy" started out in their little skills with their grappling hooks.

All day they grappled along the Embarcadero. Old Jack is the mascot of the longshoremen. "Dummy" is the mascot of the firemen. Longshoremen and firemen wagered on their favorites.

Towards night "Dummy" rowed in trailing Adey's body. Longshoremen paid off the firemen as the morgue wagon rattled to the waterfront.

Official bodies of scholars and experts have surveyed the countries in which the Jewish people are being persecuted and have returned reports teeming with such tragedy and misfortune and promises of even worse degradation, that the continued massacres have become a world affair and not a matter for any particular sect or creed. The Jewish people throughout the United States have been sacrificing themselves and interests during the period of the war to send succor to those of their race who have been trodden in the old countries. All creeds are joining in the effort to save the Jews from complete annihilation.

The mass meeting of Thursday night is called "in the name of God and humanity." From the assembly is expected to come some definite action which will have its influence with the national protest against the barbarity which is being practiced in those countries where Jewish people dwell. All peace-loving people are urged to attend.
